NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

SIR JULIAN PAUNCEFOTE, British minister, left Washington for England yesterday, for a summer vacation. He will return in October, bringing his family with him.

ANNETTA and Marian Boggs, spinsters of Point Pleasant, W. Va., committed suicide on Tuesday with arsenic. They were in fair circumstances, but left a jointly signed letter testifying that "there is nothing in life for old maids, and they were tired of it." Could anything be more pitiful?

A TERRITORIAL convention is in session at Guthire, for the purpose of forming a provisional government for Oklahoma. The boomers in that remote country have apparently recovered from the state fever, which began to attack them the moment they started for the West.

THE Manitoba wheat crop is a failure, and will not equal one-half of last year's crop. Manitoba is a great wheat region and an important contributor to the English markets. Now let the free traders rise once more to remark that Europe will refuse to buy American wheat unless we reduce our tariffs.

THE Utica Herald's Ogdensburg special states that John L. Sullivan passed down the St. Lawrence yesterday morning on the steamer Passport of the Royal Mail line, bound for Montreal. A telegram was sent forward with instructions to have a room prepared for the great bruiser at some hotel in the city.

AT a meeting of glass bottle manufacturers in New York yesterday, resolutions were adopted to resist the demands of the workmen in regard to wages and the limitation of apprentices. It was also resolved that when there is again a scarcity of workmen, the trade shall be taught to American boys instead of importing foreigners.

THE South Carolina medical society has expelled Dr. McDow of Charleston on the charge of "immoral, ungentlemanly and unprofessional conduct." There is no doubt that murder is immoral and ungentlemanly, and it is also clear that McDow killed his victim in an unprofessional manner. But murder is not always treated as severely as this in South Carolina except when the assassin is a "nigger."

THE Rhode Island license bill, as it passed the House yesterday, makes the retail license fee $400 for Providence, $350 for other cities and towns of over 15,000 inhabitants, $300 for towns of between 15,000 and 6,000 inhabitants, and $200 for the smaller towns. Local option elections are to be ordered on the petition of 20 per cent of the voters at the last election. The Senate is expected to strengthen the bill, which is more favorable to the liquor sellers than the law that prevailed before Prohibition was enacted.

THE different musical associations and individual professors of New York have opened war upon street music in that city and sent complaints to the Mayor. They charge that the musicians come from Europe under contract, are a nuisance and disgrace to the profession, and interfere with their legitimate business. We suspect that the meat of the hostility is in the last specification. The "profession" wants the pennies that "dot little Sharman Pand" picks up, But the street music, with all of its imperfections, is the only music that the poor of the great cities have a chance to hear. The Mayor will probably let them stay.

THE testimony in the inquiry concerning the efficiency of electricity for the killing of murderers must make Kemmler, in whose behalf it was started, lament that he ever raised objections and expressed his preference for hanging. Witnesses in abundance swear that electricity cannot be relied upon to accomplish death. A few have indeed been killed by lightning accidents, but the vast majority of the stricken have been restored to life. Now Kemmler realizes by the evidence on one side that the shock is painless, and by that on the other that his chances of restoration afterward are at least nine to one. Why doesn't he call off his counsel and send for the electrical machine?

WILLIAM MCKELLOP, President of the First National Bank of Corunna, Mich., came to Lansing on Wednesday with a youthful looking stranger and occupied a room with him at a hotel over night. In the morning the stranger departed, and McKellop informed his friends in a very gleeful manner that he had purchased a $20,000 gold brick from his friend for $4,000. A subsequent examination proved the brick to be of about the same value as ordinary building brick. The youthful brick-carrier went to Canada. A preference for greenbacks appears to have made even bankers oblivious to the difference between gold and pinchbeck in the "wild and wooly West."

THE Campbell air ship, in which Prof. Hogan ascended from Williamsburg Tuesday morning, was discovered seventy-four miles out at sea southeast of Montauk Point by the crew of the pilot boat Caprice Tuesday afternoon. When first seen the balloon was dragging close to the water as if held down by some invisible weight, but in a little while it broke loose and floated away. The object that held the balloon down was the airship. The Caprice sailed around the wreck but could find no trace of a human being. Very little doubt remains that the venturesome aeronant was lost. Mr. Campbell professes to believe, however, that he is safe and will soon make his appearance. LATER—A dispatch announces Hogan's probable safety.

ARTHUR FAIRCHILD of Brooklyn, fifteen years old, fell down the shaft of the deserted "Old Benson silver mine" near Lake Mohegan, Westchester county, last Sunday, and could not get out. He was discovered by his friends on Wednesday, alive and well, but very hungry. This mine was worked in the seventeenth century by Henry Benson, an Englishman, who is supposed to have been captured and sunk with his ship and crew by Robert Kidd, the famous pirate. Its location was unknown from the time of Benson's departure until 1885, when it was accidentally discovered but not explored. Young Fairchild was the first person to penetrate it, and for two days he wished he hadn't. He found the inhabitants to be bats, snakes and a peculiar fish without eyes and of a bright bronze color in a large stone basin.

A FIERCE TORNADO IN WISCONSIN

And Heavy Rain Storms in Other Western States Yesterday.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

MILWAUKEE, July 19.—A wind storm of the nature of a tornado visited Peshtigo, Wis., yesterday. The Odd Fellows' Hall was unroofed and the Catholic Church damaged. All that was insecure about buildings was carried away and trees were uprooted and fences laid low. Many fields were swept clear of crops about to be housed.

CINCINNATI, O., July 19.—At about 3 o'clock this morning a heavy rain storm came upon this City from the north accompanied by very severe thunder and lightning. Rain fell in torrents. The bank of the Ohio Canal at York-street broke and the water poured from the canal in a great flood. The cellars and first floors of several dwellings were filled with water. The occupants of first floors in some of the houses were rescued with difficulty. A cloud-burst is reported at Lancaster which caused a big washout on the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo Railroad. At Logan, O., heavy rain caused much damage to crops. Lightning struck a house at Georgeville and set it on fire and burned half the town. At Marysville, O., great damage was done. Lightning struck the Electric Light Works and put out the lights.

CHICAGO, July 19.—About 10 o'clock last night one of the heaviest thunder storms of recent years visited Chicago. At 11 o'clock Thursday morning the thermometer registered 86 degrees. The weather did not grow any cooler during the night and all day yesterday the heat was frightful. Moisture surcharged the atmosphere and made the sun's rays almost unbearable. Last night rain poured down and the streets were flooded. The electrical display that accompanied the rain was remarkable. Nothing like it has ever been seen here. A number of buildings were struck by lightning and the Fire Department was kept on the go for an hour.

FORT BELKNAP, Mont., July 19.—The heavy rains of the past 10 days culminated last night in a tremendous thunder shower which flooded the entire Milk River Valley from Assinaboine to a point 25 miles east of Chinook. It was accompanied by a heavy gale, which fortunately did little damage. Streams are rapidly rising and fears are expressed for the railroad bridges, only a few inches more water being needed to carry them off.

GRAND FORKS, Dak., July 19.—The past few days have been extremely hot. People have sweltered and suffered under the penetrating rays of Old Sol. Wednesday night there was one of the heaviest rain falls that ever visited this section. The counties of Bolineau, Ramsey, Nelson and Traill all needed rain and they got it in profusion. Cass County did not get a dipperful. Yesterday the sun fairly boiled everything.

NECHE, N. D., July 19.—The first heavy rain this summer fell Wednesday night, followed yesterday by the hottest weather of the season. The hay crop is a total failure in this vicinity. The indications are that half a crop of wheat will be realized.

NELSONVILLE, O., July 19.—There was a terrific rain-storm in this section all yesterday afternoon. A cloud-burst was reported at Logan, and people here became frightened and many families abandoned their homes to find safety on the hillsides.

THE CAMPBELL AIR "SHIP" SEEN.

There Seems to be Little Doubt But the Man in the "Ship" Perished.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, July 19.—The Captain of the steamer Hogarth from Rio de Janeiro reports sighting a white mark floating on the ocean yesterday morning, 60 miles southeast of Barnegat. There is little doubt it was the balloon attachment of Campbell's air ship.

UTICA, N. Y., July 19.—Professor Carl Myers, of Mohawk, N. Y., constructed the balloon that was used by Professor Hogan on Tuesday. He says that the gas reservoir may not come down in several days until torn by the æronaut, as it was constructed in such a manner as to warrant its holding the hydrogen gas almost any length of time. It was in fact one of the most impregnable balloons in existence. In the construction of the large air-ship arrangements were made by Professor Myers for operating it exactly like an ordinary balloon in case of accident, but the escape-valve placed in the top by him was removed by the Campbell Air-Ship Company and changes made in the netting and connections to the car which would prevent its operating as Professor Myers intended. It is his opinion that neither Hogan nor the air-ship will ever be heard of again, and that proper precautions were not taken on the part of the parties in charge.

Killed for Speaking About Dog Meat.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CARBON, Wyoming Ter., July 19.—Joseph Friedman was grinding sausage at his meat market yesterday when William Miller, an employe of a rival market, entered. The visitor hinted that diseased canine entered largely into the mixture. Friedman became furious and rushed upon Miller and with both hands sank a big cleaver into his skull. Frenzied at the sight of blood he continued his assault until 10 fearful wounds had been inflicted, either of which would have proved fatal. Friedman boarded a freight train, but was captured and jailed.

The Lord Salisbury Slander Suit Begun.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, July 19.—The trial of the action of William O'Brien against Lord Salisbury for slander began to-day. Mr. O'Brien testified that he had never incited either to murder or robbery. He never advocated crime. Sir Edward Clarke, Solicitor General, counsel for Lord Salisbury, subjected Mr. O'Brien to a lengthy cross-examination. He aimed to show that witness' editorial articles and speeches justified the language used by Lord Salisbury.

STEEL PLATE PRICES REDUCED.

Cut Unprecedented in the History of the Iron Industry.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PITTSBURGH, July 19.—Carnegie, Phipps & Company to-day reduced the selling price of steel plate $6 per ton, and their other products in proportion. This cut is unprecedented in the history of the steel and iron industry. It will result in this firm selling all the steel plates they can produce. The sliding scale, signed by the firm's employes, goes into effect January 1, and the wages of the employes will be based on the price of steel for the preceding three months, which will, of course, result in a great cut in wages. The firms who were afraid to fight the Amalgamated Association and signed the scale are thus shut out from competition, and are outspoken in their indignation.

M'QUADE TRIAL NEARLY ENDED.

Judge Fursman Summed Up the Case For the Defense this Morning.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BALLSTON, N. Y., July 19.—Judge Fursman this morning summed up the case for McQuade. He declared the defendant was innocent and that it did not require oratory to acquit him, but a strict adherence to the facts. The only thing the speaker feared in this case was the District Attorney to follow him, he being the greatest orator among the District Attorneys of the whole United States. "If you do not keep your minds upon your obligations," said Judge Fursman, "he, with his silvery voice will steal away your hearts. The defendant has been tried three times for this crime."

At the White House To-Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The corridors of the White House were again crowded this morning with people desiring an interview with the President. Cabinet officers engaged most of the President's attention, but the general business callers were each given a brief hearing. Secretaries Proctor and Rusk, and Attorney General Miller called during the forenoon and Secretary Windom in the afternoon. The latter was closeted with the President some time. Ex-Senator Powell Clayton and ex-Consul to Samoa Sewell were among those who saw the President.

A Valuable Silver Find.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

GREAT FALLS., Mont., July 19.—Miners named Williams and Newcomb arrived yesterday with Arthur Ford, a ranchman, and recorded 20 mineral claims. The claims are in a newly discovered district near where Otter Creek flows into Belt Creek. The ore contains silver with antimony and lead. It is supposed to be in blanket leads. The place is 30 miles from here and is on the Otter Creek route of the projected Bill Mountain Railroad. Prospectors are much excited over the find.

Dennis Ryan's Assailant Captured.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

FRANKLIN, Mass., July 19.—Saladin Cook, who shot Dennis Ryan Wednesday, was arrested last night by four officers. Cook was captured in the cellar of his house. The officers secured Cook's firearms and secreted themselves to await Cook's return from Franklin, and when he appeared the officers captured him after a brief struggle. Ryan is dead.

Verdict of Murder in First Degree.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PORTLAND, Oregon, July 19.—The jury in the case of Charles Olds, charged with killing Emil Weber, last night brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree. Olds and Weber were prominent members of the sporting fraternity. The shooting was the result of a feud.

English Paper Trust Formed.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, July 19.—The syndicate of paper manufacturers has about completed arrangements for the proposed combination. The capital of £1,500,000 has already been guaranteed. It is expected the immediate effect will be an advance of 5 per cent. in the price of paper.

A Convict Accidently Killed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 19.—This morning George Lord, a convict in the penitentiary, sent from Owego, Tioga County, as a tramp, while at work in the prison grounds was crushed to death by a falling bank of earth.

BOSTON, July 19.—Count Leo Schwab, known as the "Soldiers' Friend," died at Beachmont, Mass., to-day.

ACTION OF THE BANKERS' TRIANGLE

To Neutralize Effects of Collapse of Inter-State Railway Association.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, July 19.—A local paper prints the following: The bankers' triangle to neutralize the bad effects of the collapse of the Inter-State Commerce Railway Association has kept its literary bureau busy all week telegraphing reports of gigantic railway combinations, changes in ownership of roads, etc. Their object is to create the impression that the roads that have withdrawn from the Association and stand in the way of its success will soon be in control of parties who will act in harmony with the Association and carry out the behests of the bankers' triangle even to the extent of joining McCook's trust scheme. The reports that the Alton is likely to change ownership and that the Burlington & Quincy is about to obtain control of the Burlington & Northern are to convey the impression that these roads will soon be stopped from doing any mischief to prevent the establishment of high rates. There is no possible chance that the Alton will be sold. It is not for sale except at a price far above its actual value. Neither Gould nor any one else would want to buy the road at the figure it is held by its owners. Its stock is not in the market and cannot be forced down like the stock of watered and over-burdened concerns. President Blackstone, who controls a majority of the stock of the Alton, is in Europe and is not expected to return before fall. No one else can negotiate the sale of stock he controls, and it can therefore be seen that the reports that negotiations are going on for its sale were spread for the mere purpose of affecting the stock market. The same is the case as regards the reported purchase of the Burlington & Northern by the Burlington & Quincy. The latter virtually controls the Burlington & Northern now and would have nothing to gain by purchasing it outright. The report of a consolidation of the Union and Northern Pacific and the Canadian Pacific was also spread by the same bureau. The Canadian Pacific is a Canadian Government road and cannot be consolidated with American roads.

NEWSPAPERS DID NOT OBSERVE LAW.

Full Details of an Execution in Minnesota Published This Morning.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

LITTLE FALLS, Minn., July 19.—Alfred Bulow was hanged at 1:48 A. M., in accordance with the new State law prescribing that executions shall take place between 1 and 4 A. M. The law limits the number of persons who shall witness the executions, and there were only 13 persons inside the enclosure when the drop fell. Bulow met death bravely and made no confession. The law provides that newspapers shall publish only the bare announcement of the hanging, but all the Minneapolis and St. Paul papers contained full details of the execution.

Horrible Wife Murder in Wisconsin.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ASHLAND, Wis., July 19.—A horrible wife murder occurred near Bad River Station yesterday. The victim was the pretty 18-year-old bride of Joseph Fuschs, a man 40 years of age. They had been married two weeks and made their home at Glidden. About 2 o'clock they left on the north-bound train. They got off at Morse and a section foreman saw them walking arm-in-arm up the track. He was horrified to see Fuschs strike the woman several times with some deadly implement. As he approached the murderer picked up the woman and threw her down a steep embankment. When the section foreman picked up the body it was lifeless. Examination showed that the woman had been stabbed seven times in the breast. The murderer fled to the woods.

Prisoner is Tall and Carries Himself with a Military Air.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, July 19.—An Englishman was arrested this morning on the charge of having murdered the woman whose body was found Tuesday morning in Whitechapel. After being taken into custody the prisoner confessed that he had killed the woman. The weapon used was an ordinary pocket knife. He carried no other weapon. He declared he lived nowhere and that he had just arrived from abroad. The prisoner is six feet tall, of fair complexion and carries himself with a military air. His actions indicate that he is insane.

The identity of the man is carefully concealed for the present by the authorities. He has confessed that he murdered all the women whose bodies have been found around and in the Whitechapel district. He gave the names of his victims and all the ghastly and indecent details connected with their murder. The police believe he is a lunatic, but that possibly the story he tells is true, and that he is the man for whom they have been searching.

AN INVASION OF MORMON FLIES.

Old Settlers Say it is an Indication of a Hot Season.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DUBUQUE, Ia., July 19.—This City is just recovering from an invasion of Mormon flies, such at it has never before known. Wednesday night the pests came up from the River in great swarms and gathered about the gas and electric lights so that people were compelled to abandon the streets. The morning newspapers and telegraph offices were compelled to close their windows and doors to escape the torture. The pests are about an inch long with broad wings and spring into existence in a few hours. After flying about the light for one night they cease to exist. Along the levee the buildings were so thickly covered with the pests that nothing could be seen but a writhing mass of insects. The stench from the dead pests is unbearable and the health authorities had several wagons employed in removing the offensive mass. Old settlers claim the visitation indicates an unusually hot season.

RIOT AT ALEXANDRIA BAY LAKE.

White Men and Colored Waiters of Thousand Island House the Participants.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., July 19.—There was a small riot at Alexandria Bay Lake last night. A tough white man had a quarrel with some of the colored waiters of the Thousand Island House, the waiters ejecting him from a saloon. The white man gathered his friends and the waiters also obtained reinforcements, and each marched against the other about 20 strong, armed with clubs, pistols, billiard cues and stones. The village officers were powerless. One waiter, who attempted to act as peacemaker, was unmercifully clubbed and is in a serious condition. The fight ended after a few minutes, the waiters being worsted.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

SIR JULIAN PAUNCEFOTE, British minister, left Washington for England yesterday, for a summer vacation. He will return in October, bringing his family with him.

ANNETTA and Marian Boggs, spinsters of Point Pleasant, W. Va., committed suicide on Tuesday with arsenic. They were in fair circumstances, but left a jointly signed letter testifying that "there is nothing in life for old maids, and they were tired of it." Could anything be more pitiful?

A TERRITORIAL convention is in session at Guthire, for the purpose of forming a provisional government for Oklahoma. The boomers in that remote country have apparently recovered from the state fever, which began to attack them the moment they started for the West.

THE Manitoba wheat crop is a failure, and will not equal one-half of last year's crop. Manitoba is a great wheat region and an important contributor to the English markets. Now let the free traders rise once more to remark that Europe will refuse to buy American wheat unless we reduce our tariffs.

THE Utica Herald's Ogdensburg special states that John L. Sullivan passed down the St. Lawrence yesterday morning on the steamer Passport of the Royal Mail line, bound for Montreal. A telegram was sent forward with instructions to have a room prepared for the great bruiser at some hotel in the city.

AT a meeting of glass bottle manufacturers in New York yesterday, resolutions were adopted to resist the demands of the workmen in regard to wages and the limitation of apprentices. It was also resolved that when there is again a scarcity of workmen, the trade shall be taught to American boys instead of importing foreigners.

THE South Carolina medical society has expelled Dr. McDow of Charleston on the charge of "immoral, ungentlemanly and unprofessional conduct." There is no doubt that murder is immoral and ungentlemanly, and it is also clear that McDow killed his victim in an unprofessional manner. But murder is not always treated as severely as this in South Carolina except when the assassin is a "nigger."

THE Rhode Island license bill, as it passed the House yesterday, makes the retail license fee $400 for Providence, $350 for other cities and towns of over 15,000 inhabitants, $300 for towns of between 15,000 and 6,000 inhabitants, and $200 for the smaller towns. Local option elections are to be ordered on the petition of 20 per cent of the voters at the last election. The Senate is expected to strengthen the bill, which is more favorable to the liquor sellers than the law that prevailed before Prohibition was enacted.

THE different musical associations and individual professors of New York have opened war upon street music in that city and sent complaints to the Mayor. They charge that the musicians come from Europe under contract, are a nuisance and disgrace to the profession, and interfere with their legitimate business. We suspect that the meat of the hostility is in the last specification. The "profession" wants the pennies that "dot little Sharman Pand" picks up. But the street music, with all of its imperfections, is the only music that the poor of the great cities have a chance to hear. The Mayor will probably let them stay.

THE testimony in the inquiry concerning the efficiency of electricity for the killing of murderers must make Kemmler, in whose behalf it was started, lament that he ever raised objections and expressed his preference for hanging. Witnesses in abundance swear that electricity cannot be relied upon to accomplish death. A few have indeed been killed by lightning accidents, but the vast majority of the stricken have been restored to life. Now Kemmler realizes by the evidence on one side that the shock is painless, and by that on the other that his chances of restoration afterward are at least nine to one. Why doesn't he call off his counsel and send for the electrical machine?

WILLIAM MCKELLOP, President of the First National Bank of Corunna, Mich., came to Lansing on Wednesday with a youthful looking stranger and occupied a room with him at a hotel over night. In the morning the stranger departed, and McKellop informed his friends in a very gleeful manner that he had purchased a $20,000 gold brick from his friend for $4,000. A subsequent examination proved the brick to be of about the same value as ordinary building brick. The youthful brick-carrier went to Canada. A preference for greenbacks appears to have made even bankers oblivious to the difference between gold and pinchbeck in the "wild and wooly West."

THE Campbell air ship, in which Prof. Hogan ascended from Williamsburg Tuesday morning, was discovered seventy-four miles out at sea southeast of Montauk Point by the crew of the pilot boat Caprice Tuesday afternoon. When first seen the balloon was dragging close to the water as if held down by some invisible weight, but in a little while it broke loose and floated away. The object that held the balloon down was the airship. The Caprice sailed around the wreck but could find no trace of a human being. Very little doubt remains that the venturesome aeronant was lost. Mr. Campbell professes to believe, however, that he is safe and will soon make his appearance. LATER—A dispatch announces Hogan's probable safety.

ARTHUR FAIRCHILD of Brooklyn, fifteen years old, fell down the shaft of the deserted "Old Benson silver mine" near Lake Mohegan, Westchester county, last Sunday, and could not get out. He was discovered by his friends on Wednesday, alive and well, but very hungry. This mine was worked in the seventeenth century by Henry Benson, an Englishman, who is supposed to have been captured and sunk with his ship and crew by Robert Kidd, the famous pirate. Its location was unknown from the time of Benson's departure until 1885, when it was accidentally discovered but not explored. Young Fairchild was the first person to penetrate it, and for two days he wished he hadn't. He found the inhabitants to be bats, snakes and a peculiar fish without eyes and of a bright bronze color in a large stone basin.

A FIERCE TORNADO IN WISCONSIN

And Heavy Rain Storms in Other Western States Yesterday.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

MILWAUKEE, July 19.—A wind storm of the nature of a tornado visited Peshtigo, Wis., yesterday. The Odd Fellows' Hall was unroofed and the Catholic Church damaged. All that was insecure about buildings was carried away and trees were uprooted and fences laid low. Many fields were swept clear of crops about to be housed.

CINCINNATI, O., July 19.—At about 3 o'clock this morning a heavy rain storm came upon this City from the north accompanied by very severe thunder and lightning. Rain fell in torrents. The bank of the Ohio Canal at York-street broke and the water poured from the canal in a great flood. The cellars and first floors of several dwellings were filled with water. The occupants of first floors in some of the houses were rescued with difficulty. A cloud-burst is reported at Lancaster which caused a big washout on the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo Railroad. At Logan, O., heavy rain caused much damage to crops. Lightning struck a house at Georgeville and set it on fire and burned half the town. At Marysville, O., great damage was done. Lightning struck the Electric Light Works and put out the lights.

CHICAGO, July 19.—About 10 o'clock last night one of the heaviest thunder storms of recent years visited Chicago. At 11 o'clock Thursday morning the thermometer registered 86 degrees. The weather did not grow any cooler during the night and all day yesterday the heat was frightful. Moisture surcharged the atmosphere and made the sun's rays almost unbearable. Last night rain poured down and the streets were flooded. The electrical display that accompanied the rain was remarkable. Nothing like it has ever been seen here. A number of buildings were struck by lightning and the Fire Department was kept on the go for an hour.

FORT BELKNAP, Mont., July 19.—The heavy rains of the past 10 days culminated last night in a tremendous thunder shower which flooded the entire Milk River Valley from Assinaboine to a point 25 miles east of Chinook. It was accompanied by a heavy gale, which fortunately did little damage. Streams are rapidly rising and fears are expressed for the railroad bridges, only a few inches more water being needed to carry them off.

GRAND FORKS, Dak., July 19.—The past few days have been extremely hot. People have sweltered and suffered under the penetrating rays of Old Sol. Wednesday night there was one of the heaviest rain falls that ever visited this section. The counties of Bolineau, Ramsey, Nelson and Traill all needed rain and they got it in profusion. Cass County did not get a dipperful. Yesterday the sun fairly boiled everything.

NECHE, N. D., July 19.—The first heavy rain this summer fell Wednesday night, followed yesterday by the hottest weather of the season. The hay crop is a total failure in this vicinity. The indications are that half a crop of wheat will be realized.

NELSONVILLE, O., July 19.—There was a terrific rain-storm in this section all yesterday afternoon. A cloud-burst was reported at Logan, and people here became frightened and many families abandoned their homes to find safety on the hillsides.

THE CAMPBELL AIR "SHIP" SEEN.

There Seems to be Little Doubt But the Man in the "Ship" Perished.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, July 19.—The Captain of the steamer Hogarth from Rio de Janeiro reports sighting a white mark floating on the ocean yesterday morning, 60 miles southeast of Barnegat. There is little doubt it was the balloon attachment of Campbell's air ship.

UTICA, N. Y., July 19.—Professor Carl Myers, of Mohawk, N. Y., constructed the balloon that was used by Professor Hogan on Tuesday. He says that the gas reservoir may not come down in several days until torn by the aeronaut, as it was constructed in such a manner as to warrant its holding the hydrogen gas almost any length of time. It was in fact one of the most impregnable balloons in existence. In the construction of the large air-ship arrangements were made by Professor Myers for operating it exactly like an ordinary balloon in case of accident, but the escape-valve placed in the top by him was removed by the Campbell Air-Ship Company and changes made in the netting and connections to the car which would prevent its operating as Professor Myers intended. It is his opinion that neither Hogan nor the air-ship will ever be heard of again, and that proper precautions were not taken on the part of the parties in charge.

Killed for Speaking About Dog Meat.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CARBON, Wyoming Ter., July 19.—Joseph Friedman was grinding sausage at his meat market yesterday when William Miller, an employe of a rival market, entered. The visitor hinted that diseased canine entered largely into the mixture. Friedman became furious and rushed upon Miller and with both hands sank a big cleaver into his skull. Frenzied at the sight of blood he continued his assault until 10 fearful wounds had been inflicted, either of which would have proved fatal. Friedman boarded a freight train, but was captured and jailed.

The Lord Salisbury Slander Suit Begun.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, July 19.—The trial of the action of William O'Brien against Lord Salisbury for slander began to-day. Mr. O'Brien testified that he had never incited either to murder or robbery. He never advocated crime. Sir Edward Clarke, Solicitor General, counsel for Lord Salisbury, subjected Mr. O'Brien to a lengthy cross-examination. He aimed to show that witness' editorial articles and speeches justified the language used by Lord Salisbury.

STEEL PLATE PRICES REDUCED.

Cut Unprecedented in the History of the Iron Industry.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PITTSBURGH, July 19.—Carnegie, Phipps & Company to-day reduced the selling price of steel plate $6 per ton, and their other products in proportion. This cut is unprecedented in the history of the steel and iron industry. It will result in this firm selling all the steel plates they can produce. The sliding scale, signed by the firm's employes, goes into effect January 1, and the wages of the employes will be based on the price of steel for the preceding three months, which will, of course, result in a great cut in wages. The firms who were afraid to fight the Amalgamated Association and signed the scale are thus shut out from competition, and are outspoken in their indignation.

M'QUADE TRIAL NEARLY ENDED.

Judge Fursman Summed Up the Case For the Defense this Morning.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BALLSTON, N. Y., July 19.—Judge Fursman this morning summed up the case for McQuade. He declared the defendant was innocent and that it did not require oratory to acquit him, but a strict adherence to the facts. The only thing the speaker feared in this case was the District Attorney to follow him, he being the greatest orator among the District Attorneys of the whole United States. "If you do not keep your minds upon your obligations," said Judge Fursman, "he, with his silvery voice will steal away your hearts. The defendant has been tried three times for this crime."

At the White House To-Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The corridors of the White House were again crowded this morning with people desiring an interview with the President. Cabinet officers engaged most of the President's attention, but the general business callers were each given a brief hearing. Secretaries Proctor and Rusk, and Attorney General Miller called during the forenoon and Secretary Windom in the afternoon. The latter was closeted with the President some time. Ex-Senator Powell Clayton and ex-Consul to Samoa Sewell were among those who saw the President.

A Valuable Silver Find.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 19.—Miners named Williams and Newcomb arrived yesterday with Arthur Ford, a rancliman, and recorded 20 mineral claims. The claims are in a newly discovered district near where Otter Creek flows into Belt Creek. The ore contains silver with antimony and lead. It is supposed to be in blanket leads. The place is 30 miles from here and is on the Otter Creek route of the projected Bill Mountain Railroad. Prospectors are much excited over the find.

Dennis Ryan's Assailant Captured.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

FRANKLIN, Mass., July 19.—Saladin Cook, who shot Dennis Ryan Wednesday, was arrested last night by four officers. Cook was captured in the cellar of his house. The officers secured Cook's firearms and secreted themselves to await Cook's return from Franklin, and when he appeared the officers captured him after a brief struggle. Ryan is dead.

Verdict of Murder in First Degree.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PORTLAND, Oregon, July 19.—The jury in the case of Charles Olds, charged with killing Emil Weber, last night brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree. Olds and Weber were prominent members of the sporting fraternity. The shooting was the result of a feud.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, July 19.—The syndicate of paper manufacturers has about completed arrangements for the proposed combination. The capital of £1,500,000 has already been guaranteed. It is expected the immediate effect will be an advance of 5 per cent. in the price of paper.

A Convict Accidently Killed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 19.—This morning George Lord, a convict in the penitentiary, sent from Owego, Tioga County, as a tramp, while at work in the prison grounds was crushed to death by a falling bank of earth.

ACTION OF THE BANKERS' TRIANGLE

To Neutralize Effects of Collapse of Inter-State Railway Association.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, July 19.—A local paper prints the following: The bankers' triangle to neutralize the bad effects of the collapse of the Inter-State Commerce Railway Association has kept its literary bureau busy all week telegraphing reports of gigantic railway combinations, changes in ownership of roads, etc. Their object is to create the impression that the roads that have withdrawn from the Association and stand in the way of its success will soon be in control of parties who will act in harmony with the Association and carry out the behests of the bankers triangle even to the extent of joining McCook's trust scheme. The reports that the Alton is likely to change ownership and that the Burlington & Quincy is about to obtain control of the Burlington & Northern are to convey the impression that these roads will soon be stopped from doing any miscief to prevent the establishment of high rates. There is no possible chance that the Alton will be sold. It is not for sale except at a price far above its actual value. Neither Gould nor any one else would want to buy the road at the figure it is held by its owners. Its stock is not in the market and cannot be forced down like the stock of watered and over-burdened concerns. President Blackstone, who controls a majority of the stock of the Alton, is in Europe and is not expected to return before fall. No one else can negotiate the sale of stock he controls, and it can therefore be seen that the reports that negotiations are going on for its sale were spread for the mere purpose of affecting the stock market. The same is the case as regards the reported purchase of the Burlington & Northern by the Burlington & Quincy. The latter virtually controls the Burlington & Northern now and would have nothing to gain by purchasing it outright. The report of a consolidation of the Union and Northern Pacific and the Canadian Pacific was also spread by the same bureau. The Canadian Pacific is a Canadian Government road and cannot be consolidated with American roads.

NEWSPAPERS DID NOT OBSERVE LAW.

Full Details of an Execution in Minnesota Published This Morning.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

LITTLE FALLS, Minn., July 19.—Alfred Bulow was hanged at 1:48 A. M., in accordance with the new State law prescribing that executions shall take place between 1 and 4 A. M. The law limits the number of persons who shall witness the executions, and there were only 13 persons inside the enclosure when the drop fell. Bulow met death bravely and made no confession. The law provides that newspapers shall publish only the bare announcement of the hanging, but all the Minneapolis and St. Paul papers contained full details of the execution.

Horrible Wife Murder in Wisconsin.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ASHLAND, Wis., July 19.—A horrible wife murder occurred near Bad River Station yesterday. The victim was the pretty 18-year-old bride of Joseph Fuschs, a man 40 years of age. They had been married two weeks and made their home at Glidden. About 2 o'clock they left on the north-bound train. They got off at Morse and a section foreman saw them walking arm-in-arm up the track. He was horrified to see Fuschs strike the woman several times with some deadly implement. As he approached the murderer picked up the woman and threw her down a steep embankment. When the section foreman picked up the body it was lifeless. Examination showed that the woman had been stabbed seven times in the breast. The murderer fled to the woods.

After being taken into custody the prisoner confessed that he had killed the woman. The weapon used was an ordinary pocket knife. He carried no other weapon. He declared he lived nowhere and that he had just arrived from abroad. The prisoner is six feet tall, of fair complexion and carries himself with a military air. His actions indicate that he is insane.

The identity of the man is carefully concealed for the present by the authorities. He has confessed that he murdered all the women whose bodies have been found around and in the Whitechapel district. He gave the names of his victims and all the ghastly and indecent details connected with their murder. The police believe he is a lunatic, but that possibly the story he tells is true, and that he is the man for whom they have been searching.

AN INVASION OF MORMON FLIES.

Old Settlers Say it is an Indication of a Hot Season.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DUBUQUE, Ia., July 19.—This City is just recovering from an invasion of Mormon flies, such as it has never before known. Wednesday night the pests came up from the River in great swarms and gathered about the gas and electric lights so that people were compelled to abandon the streets. The morning newspapers and telegraph offices were compelled to close their windows and doors to escape the torture. The pests are about an inch long with broad wings and spring into existence in a few hours. After flying about the light for one night they cease to exist. Along the levee the buildings were so thickly covered with the pests that nothing could be seen but a writhing mass of insects. The stench from the dead pests is unbearable and the health authorities had several wagons employed in removing the offensive mass. Old settlers claim the visitation indicates an unusually hot season.

RIOT AT ALEXANDRIA BAY LAKE.

White Men and Colored Waiters of Thousand Island House the Participants.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., July 19.—There was a small riot at Alexandria Bay Lake last night. A tough white man had a quarrel with some of the colored waiters of the Thousand Island House, the waiters ejecting him from a saloon. The white man gathered his friends and the waiters also obtained reinforcements, and each marched against the other about 20 strong, armed with clubs, pistols, billiard cues and stones. The village officers were powerless. One waiter, who attempted to act as peacemaker, was unmercifully clubbed and is in a serious condition. The fight ended after a few minutes, the waiters being worsted.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

SIR JULIAN PAUNCEFOTE, British minister, left Washington for England yesterday, for a summer vacation. He will return in October, bringing his family with him.

ANNETTA and Marian Boggs, spinsters of Point Pleasant, W. Va., committed suicide on Tuesday with arsenic. They were in fair circumstances, but left a jointly signed letter testifying that "there is nothing in life for old maids, and they were tired of it." Could anything be more pitiful?

A TERRITORIAL convention is in session at Guthire, for the purpose of forming a provisional government for Oklahoma. The boomers in that remote country have apparently recovered from the state fever, which began to attack them the moment they started for the West.

THE Manitoba wheat crop is a failure, and will not equal one-half of last year's crop. Manitoba is a great wheat region and an important contributor to the English markets. Now let the free traders rise once more to remark that Europe will refuse to buy American wheat unless we reduce our tariffs.

THE Utica Herald's Ogdensburg special states that John L. Sullivan passed down the St. Lawrence yesterday morning on the steamer Passport of the Royal Mail line, bound for Montreal. A telegram was sent forward with instructions to have a room prepared for the great bruiser at some hotel in the city.

AT a meeting of glass bottle manufacturers in New York yesterday, resolutions were adopted to resist the demands of the workmen in regard to wages and the limitation of apprentices. It was also resolved that when there is again a scarcity of workmen, the trade shall be taught to American boys instead of importing foreigners.

THE South Carolina medical society has expelled Dr. McDow of Charleston on the charge of "immoral, ungentlemanly and unprofessional conduct." There is no doubt that murder is immoral and ungentlemanly, and it is also clear that McDow killed his victim in an unprofessional manner. But murder is not always treated as severely as this in South Carolina except when the assassin is a "nigger."

THE Rhode Island license bill, as it passed the House yesterday, makes the retail license fee $400 for Providence, $350 for other cities and towns of over 15,000 inhabitants, $300 for towns of between 15,000 and 6,000 inhabitants, and $200 for the smaller towns. Local option elections are to be ordered on the petition of 20 per cent of the voters at the last election. The Senate is expected to strengthen the bill, which is more favorable to the liquor sellers than the law that prevailed before Prohibition was enacted.

THE different musical associations and individual professors of New York have opened war upon street music in that city and sent complaints to the Mayor. They charge that the musicians come from Europe under contract, are a nuisance and disgrace to the profession, and interfere with their legitimate business. We suspect that the meat of the hostility is in the last specification. The "profession" wants the pennies that "dot little Sharman Pand" picks up, But the street music, with all of its imperfections, is the only music that the poor of the great cities have a chance to hear. The Mayor will probably let them stay.

THE testimony in the inquiry concerning the efficiency of electricity for the killing of murderers must make Kemmler, in whose behalf it was started, lament that he ever raised objections and expressed his preference for hanging. Witnesses in abundance swear that electricity cannot be relied upon to accomplish death. A few have indeed been killed by lightning accidents, but the vast majority of the stricken have been restored to life. Now Kemmler realizes by the evidence on one side that the shock is painless, and by that on the other that his chances of restoration afterward are at least nine to one. Why doesn't he call off his counsel and send for the electrical machine?

WILLIAM MCKELLOP, President of the First National Bank of Corunna, Mich., came to Lansing on Wednesday with a youthful looking stranger and occupied a room with him at a hotel over night. In the morning the stranger departed, and McKellop informed his friends in a very gleeful manner that he had purchased a $20,000 gold brick from his friend for $4,000. A subsequent examination proved the brick to be of about the same value as ordinary building brick. The youthful brick-carrier went to Canada. A preference for greenbacks appears to have made even bankers oblivious to the difference between gold and pinchbeck in the "wild and wooly West."

THE Campbell air ship, in which Prof. Hogan ascended from Williamsburg Tuesday morning, was discovered seventy-four miles out at sea southeast of Montauk Point by the crew of the pilot boat Caprice Tuesday afternoon. When first seen the balloon was dragging close to the water as if held down by some invisible weight, but in a little while it broke loose and floated away. The object that held the balloon down was the airship. The Caprice sailed around the wreck but could find no trace of a human being. Very little doubt remains that the venturesome aeronant was lost. Mr. Campbell professes to believe, however, that he is safe and will soon make his appearance. LATER—A dispatch announces Hogan's probable safety.

ARTHUR FAIRCHILD of Brooklyn, fifteen years old, fell down the shaft of the deserted "Old Benson silver mine" near Lake Mohegan, Westchester county, last Sunday, and could not get out. He was discovered by his friends on Wednesday, alive and well, but very hungry. This mine was worked in the seventeenth century by Henry Benson, an Englishman, who is supposed to have been captured and sunk with his ship and crew by Robert Kidd, the famous pirate. Its location was unknown from the time of Benson's departure until 1885, when it was accidentally discovered but not explored. Young Fairchild was the first person to penetrate it, and for two days he wished he hadn't. He found the inhabitants to be bats, snakes and a peculiar fish without eyes and of a bright bronze color in a large stone basin.

A FIERCE TORNADO IN WISCONSIN

And Heavy Rain Storms in Other Western States Yesterday.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

MILWAUKEE, July 19.—A wind storm of the nature of a tornado visited Peshtigo, Wis., yesterday. The Odd Fellows' Hall was unroofed and the Catholic Church damaged. All that was insecure about buildings was carried away and trees were uprooted and fences laid low. Many fields were swept clear of crops about to be housed.

CINCINNATI, O., July 19.—At about 3 o'clock this morning a heavy rain storm came upon this City from the north accompanied by very severe thunder and lightning. Rain fell in torrents. The bank of the Ohio Canal at York-street broke and the water poured from the canal in a great flood. The cellars and first floors of several dwellings were filled with water. The occupants of first floors in some of the houses were rescued with difficulty. A cloud-burst is reported at Lancaster which caused a big washout on the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo Railroad. At Logan, O., heavy rain caused much damage to crops. Lightning struck a house at Georgeville and set it on fire and burned half the town. At Marysville, O., great damage was done. Lightning struck the Electric Light Works and put out the lights.

CHICAGO, July 19.—About 10 o'clock last night one of the heaviest thunder storms of recent years visited Chicago. At 11 o'clock Thursday morning the thermometer registered 86 degrees. The weather did not grow any cooler during the night and all day yesterday the heat was frightful. Moisture surcharged the atmosphere and made the sun's rays almost unbearable. Last night rain poured down and the streets were flooded. The electrical display that accompanied the rain was remarkable. Nothing like it has ever been seen here. A number of buildings were struck by lightning and the Fire Department was kept on the go for an hour.

FORT BELKNAP, Mont., July 19.—The heavy rains of the past 10 days culminated last night in a tremendous thunder shower which flooded the entire Milk River Valley from Assinaboine to a point 25 miles east of Chinook. It was accompanied by a heavy gale, which fortunately did little damage. Streams are rapidly rising and fears are expressed for the railroad bridges, only a few inches more water being needed to carry them off.

GRAND FORKS, Dak., July 19.—The past few days have been extremely hot. People have sweltered and suffered under the penetrating rays of Old Sol. Wednesday night there was one of the heaviest rain falls that ever visited this section. The counties of Bolineau, Ramsey, Nelson and Traill all needed rain and they got it in profusion. Cass County did not get a dipperful. Yesterday the sun fairly boiled everything.

NECHE, N. D., July 19.—The first heavy rain this summer fell Wednesday night, followed yesterday by the hottest weather of the season. The hay crop is a total failure in this vicinity. The indications are that half a crop of wheat will be realized.

NELSONVILLE, O., July 19.—There was a terrific rain-storm in this section all yesterday afternoon. A cloud-burst was reported at Logan, and people here became frightened and many families abandoned their homes to find safety on the hillsides.

THE CAMPBELL AIR "SHIP" SEEN.

There Seems to be Little Doubt But the Man in the "Ship" Perished.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, July 19.—The Captain of the steamer Hogarth from Rio de Janeiro reports sighting a white mark floating on the ocean yesterday morning, 60 miles southeast of Barnegat. There is little doubt it was the balloon attachment of Campbell's air ship.

UTICA, N. Y., July 19.—Professor Carl Myers, of Mohawk, N. Y., constructed the balloon that was used by Professor Hogan on Tuesday. He says that the gas reservoir may not come down in several days until torn by the æronaut, as it was constructed in such a manner as to warrant its holding the hydrogen gas almost any length of time. It was in fact one of the most impregnable balloons in existence. In the construction of the large air-ship arrangements were made by Professor Myers for operating it exactly like an ordinary balloon in case of accident, but the escape-valve placed in the top by him was removed by the Campbell Air-Ship Company and changes made in the netting and connections to the car which would prevent its operating as Professor Myers intended. It is his opinion that neither Hogan nor the air-ship will ever be heard of again, and that proper precautions were not taken on the part of the parties in charge.

Killed for Speaking About Dog Meat.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CARBON, Wyoming Ter., July 19.—Joseph Friedman was grinding sausage at his meat market yesterday when William Miller, an employe of a rival market, entered. The visitor hinted that diseased canine entered largely into the mixture. Friedman became furious and rushed upon Miller and with both hands sank a big cleaver into his skull. Frenzied at the sight of blood he continued his assault until 10 fearful wounds had been inflicted, either of which would have proved fatal. Friedman boarded a freight train, but was captured and jailed.

The Lord Salisbury Slander Suit Begun.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, July 19.—The trial of the action of William O'Brien against Lord Salisbury for slander began to-day. Mr. O'Brien testified that he had never incited either to murder or robbery. He never advocated crime. Sir Edward Clarke, Solicitor General, counsel for Lord Salisbury, subjected Mr. O'Brien to a lengthy cross-examination. He aimed to show that witness' editorial articles and speeches justified the language used by Lord Salisbury.

STEEL PLATE PRICES REDUCED.

Cut Unprecedented in the History of the Iron Industry.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PITTSBURGH, July 19.—Carnegie, Phipps & Company to-day reduced the selling price of steel plate $6 per ton, and their other products in proportion. This cut is unprecedented in the history of the steel and iron industry. It will result in this firm selling all the steel plates they can produce. The sliding scale, signed by the firm's employes, goes into effect January 1, and the wages of the employes will be based on the price of steel for the preceding three months, which will, of course, result in a great cut in wages. The firms who were afraid to fight the Amalgamated Association and signed the scale are thus shut out from competition, and are outspoken in their indignation.

M'QUADE TRIAL NEARLY ENDED.

Judge Fursman Summed Up the Case For the Defense this Morning.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BALLSTON, N. Y., July 19.—Judge Fursman this morning summed up the case for McQuade. He declared the defendant was innocent and that it did not require oratory to acquit him, but a strict adherence to the facts. The only thing the speaker feared in this case was the District Attorney to follow him, he being the greatest orator among the District Attorneys of the whole United States. "If you do not keep your minds upon your obligations," said Judge Fursman, "he, with his silvery voice will steal away your hearts. The defendant has been tried three times for this crime."

At the White House To-Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The corridors of the White House were again crowded this morning with people desiring an interview with the President. Cabinet officers engaged most of the President's attention, but the general business callers were each given a brief hearing. Secretaries Proctor and Rusk, and Attorney General Miller called during the forenoon and Secretary Windom in the afternoon. The latter was closeted with the President some time. Ex-Senator Powell Clayton and ex-Consul to Samoa Sewell were among those who saw the President.

A Valuable Silver Find.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 19.—Miners named Williams and Newcomb arrived yesterday with Arthur Ford, a ranchman, and recorded 20 mineral claims. The claims are in a newly discovered district near where Otter Creek flows into Belt Creek. The ore contains silver with antimony and lead. It is supposed to be in blanket leads. The place is 30 miles from here and is on the Otter Creek route of the projected Bill Mountain Railroad. Prospectors are much excited over the find.

Dennis Ryan's Assailant Captured.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

FRANKLIN, Mass., July 19.—Saladin Cook, who shot Dennis Ryan Wednesday, was arrested last night by four officers. Cook was captured in the cellar of his house. The officers secured Cook's firearms and secreted themselves to await Cook's return from Franklin, and when he appeared the officers captured him after a brief struggle. Ryan is dead.

Verdict of Murder in First Degree.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PORTLAND, Oregon, July 19.—The jury in the case of Charles Olds, charged with killing Emil Weber, last night brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree. Olds and Weber were prominent members of the sporting fraternity. The shooting was the result of a feud.

English Paper Trust Formed.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, July 19.—The syndicate of paper manufacturers has about completed arrangements for the proposed combination. The capital of £1,500,000 has already been guaranteed. It is expected the immediate effect will be an advance of 5 per cent. in the price of paper.

A Convict Accidently Killed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 19.—This morning George Lord, a convict in the penitentiary, sent from Owego, Tioga County, as a tramp, while at work in the prison grounds was crushed to death by a falling bank of earth.

BOSTON, July 19.—Count Leo Schwab, known as the "Soldiers' Friend," died at Beachmont, Mass., to-day.

ACTION OF THE BANKERS' TRIANGLE

To Neutralize Effects of Collapse of Inter-State Railway Association.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, July 19.—A local paper prints the following: The bankers' triangle to neutralize the bad effects of the collapse of the Inter-State Commerce Railway Association has kept its literary bureau busy all week telegraphing reports of gigantic railway combinations, changes in ownership of roads, etc. Their object is to create the impression that the roads that have withdrawn from the Association and stand in the way of its success will soon be in control of parties who will act in harmony with the Association and carry out the behests of the bankers' triangle even to the extent of joining McCook's trust scheme. The reports that the Alton is likely to change ownership and that the Burlington & Quincy is about to obtain control of the Burlington & Northern are to convey the impression that those roads will soon be stopped from doing any mischief to prevent the establishment of high rates. There is no possible chance that the Alton will be sold. It is not for sale except at a price far above its actual value. Neither Gould nor any one else would want to buy the road at the figure it is held by its owners. Its stock is not in the market and cannot be forced down like the stock of watered and over-burdened concerns. President Blackstone, who controls a majority of the stock of the Alton, is in Europe and is not expected to return before fall. No one else can negotiate the sale of stock he controls, and it can therefore be seen that the reports that negotiations are going on for its sale were spread for the mere purpose of affecting the stock market. The same is the case as regards the reported purchase of the Burlington & Northern by the Burlington & Quincy. The latter virtually controls the Burlington & Northern now and would have nothing to gain by purchasing it outright. The report of a consolidation of the Union and Northern Pacific and the Canadian Pacific was also spread by the same bureau. The Canadian Pacific is a Canadian Government road and cannot be consolidated with American roads.

NEWSPAPERS DID NOT OBSERVE LAW.

Full Details of an Execution in Minnesota Published This Morning.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

LITTLE FALLS, Minn., July 19.—Alfred Bulow was hanged at 1:48 A. M., in accordance with the new State law prescribing that executions shall take place between 1 and 4 A. M. The law limits the number of persons who shall witness the executions, and there were only 13 persons inside the enclosure when the drop fell. Bulow met death bravely and made no confession. The law provides that newspapers shall publish only the bare announcement of the hanging, but all the Minneapolis and St. Paul papers contained full details of the execution.

Horrible Wife Murder in Wisconsin.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ASHLAND, Wis., July 19.—A horrible wife murder occurred near Bad River Station yesterday. The victim was the pretty 18-year-old bride of Joseph Fuschs, a man 40 years of age. They had been married two weeks and made their home at Glidden. About 2 o'clock they left on the north-bound train. They got off at Morse and a section foreman saw them walking arm-in-arm up the track. He was horrified to see Fuschs strike the woman several times with some deadly implement. As he approached the murderer picked up the woman and threw her down a steep embankment. When the section foreman picked up the body it was lifeless. Examination showed that the woman had been stabbed seven times in the breast. The murderer fled to the woods.

R. G. Horr Declines.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The following has been received at the State Department:

EAST SAGINAW, Mich., July 16.

Hon. William F. Wharton, Acting Secretary of State, Washington:

DEAR SIR: Your notice of my appointment by the President of the United States as Consul to Valparaise, Chili, is just received. I most respectfully decline to accept the position.

Yours most truly,
R. G. HORR.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., July 19.—William Bolle, oldest son of Henry Bolle, one of the leading wine merchants of the State, and Martin Pipher were suffocated in a fermenting tank last night. Both were taken from the tank dead.

WHITECHAPEL MURDERER ARRESTED.

Prisoner is Tall and Carries Himself with a Military Air.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, July 19.—An Englishman was arrested this morning on the charge of having murdered the woman whose body was found Tuesday morning in Whitechapel. After being taken into custody the prisoner confessed that he had killed the woman. The weapon used was an ordinary pocket knife. He carried no other weapon. He declared he lived nowhere and that he had just arrived from abroad. The prisoner is six feet tall, of fair complexion and carries himself with a military air. His actions indicate that he is insane.

The identity of the man is carefully concealed for the present by the authorities. He has confessed that he murdered all the women whose bodies have been found around and in the Whitechapel district. He gave the names of his victims and all the ghastly and indecent details connected with their murder. The police believe he is a lunatic, but that possibly the story he tells is true, and that he is the man for whom they have been searching.

AN INVASION OF MORMON FLIES.

Old Settlers Say it is an Indication of a Hot Season.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DUBUQUE, Ia., July 19.—This City is just recovering from an invasion of Mormon flies, such as it has never before known. Wednesday night the pests came up from the River in great swarms and gathered about the gas and electric lights so that people were compelled to abandon the streets. The morning newspapers and telegraph offices were compelled to close their windows and doors to escape the torture. The pests are about an inch long with broad wings and spring into existence in a few hours. After flying about the light for one night they cease to exist. Along the levee the buildings were so thickly covered with the pests that nothing could be seen but a writhing mass of insects. The stench from the dead pests is unbearable and the health authorities had several wagons employed in removing the offensive mass. Old settlers claim the visitation indicates an unusually hot season.

RIOT AT ALEXANDRIA BAY LAKE.

White Men and Colored Waiters of Thousand Island House the Participants.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., July 19.—There was a small riot at Alexandria Bay Lake last night. A tough white man had a quarrel with some of the colored waiters of the Thousand Island House, the waiters ejecting him from a saloon. The white man gathered his friends and the waiters also obtained reinforcements, and each marched against the other about 20 strong, armed with clubs, pistols, billiard cues and stones. The village officers were powerless. One waiter, who attempted to act as peacemaker, was unmercifully clubbed and is in a serious condition. The fight ended after a few minutes, the waiters being worsted.

AN EXTRA SESSION AT ALBANY.

The announcement is made that Gov. Hill is going to call the Legislature into extra session again, and ask it to pass an enumeration bill. The Governor has been exceedingly anxious on the subject ever since he made his fatal blunder in 1885. He has at the opening of several campaigns announced his intention to carry the Legislature in order that he might have his way on this matter, but by each successive election the Legislature is made a little more strongly Republican than before. He has talked very loudly on the subject this summer, but his fresher blunders in the veto of the liquor license and tax bills has made it appear to him that the Legislature is much more likely to be two-thirds Republican in both houses than Democratic by the narrowest majority. An extra session would divert attention from the campaign for a while and it is possible that the Governor has hopes that the Legislasure will pass an enumeration bill. So anxious is he on the subject that it is understood that he will gladly sign the very bill that he vetoed in 1885, if the Legislature will pass it and send it to him.

But he will not get even this. The Legislature last year gave him to understand its views on this question at the extra session by treating his request with silent contempt. He would expect a political advantage from the apportionment that would follow an enumeration, and a Republican Legislature is not likely to violate the constitution by passing a bill in 1889 which could only be lawfully passed in 1885, to gratify him and weaken its own party. If the bill of 1885 were re-enacted it would be too late to secure the $120,000 that the federal government was ready to hand over in 1885, and the state would have to bear the entire expense. Then again, all the statistics of value in regard to the domestic affairs of the state will be obtained through the national census next year, and the people who have waited four years will be patient for another year. An enumeration or census this year would be of political value only, and the benefit would accrue wholly to the whisky party with which the Governor has allied himself, and possibly put it in possession of the Legislature and the entire machinery of state government. The little inequality of representation which the existing apportionment has created is a very small affair compared with the great calamity of government by the whisky power.

It will cost the state at least $10,000 to hold an extra session, and nothing will be done. The Republican party is in possession of the Legislature, and that party is determined that the Governor shall swallow all the bitter fruit of his foolish veto—a veto inspired by personal jealousy of the Republican Secretary of State—by postponing the next census until 1895, when the constitution will again require it. Gov. Hill will then be out of office, and his successor, whether Republican or Democrat, will not be in the least danger of repeating his folly.

HOGGISHNESS AT JOHNSTOWN.

Human nature is as weak and selfish at Johnstown as elsewhere. At the distribution of funds to the sufferers yesterday there was a good deal of grumbling. Here is a sample. C. L. Dick, who appears to be a lawyer and wears good clothes, lost $5,000 worth of real estate. The voucher handed to him yesterday called for $80. On receiving it he held it up to the crowd and "uttered some sentences that would scarcely do to appear in print." Mr. Dick spoke of a neighbor who had lost two fine properties and had only the lots remaining, and contemptuously remarked that he also would receive $80. Another remark by Mr. Dick was in execration of Gov. Beaver. He said he had been a Republican all his life, but would walk twenty miles to vote for any Democrat to beat the Governor.

In another crowd were some poorer people who were glad and grateful to get anything. Women weak from sickness, in torn dresses, destitute of shoes and carrying children in their arms were among them. They are the real sufferers, and it was for these especially that the whole nation opened its heart. It did not propose to rebuild the mills and houses of the well-to-do, but it did seek to relieve immediate want. It did not propose to take up the cause of the prosperous who were instantly reduced to poverty and restore their prosperity, but it did intend to relieve these along with all who had suffered. The contributions, great as their aggregate appears, were not a tithe of the losses. Men must begin life over again without assistance from the benevolent fund, just the same as if the financial ruin which has come upon them were caused by unfortunate ventures or unwise calculations.

The fund is big enough to relieve instant suffering. It is probable that Mr. Dick will be able to maintain life for a few weeks on the $80 that he has received. Then he may receive a share of another distribution which is to be made, or he may find some source of living that will make him independent. His contemptuous acceptance of the money after threatening to refuse to comply with the conditions on which he received it would indicate a certain amount of confidence that he is already able to take care of himself. The different conduct of the very poor is conclusive proof that the grateful people were not all drowned and that all who escaped are not hogs.

NEW JERSEY PROHIBITIONISTS.

The extremists got control of the New Jersey State Prohibition convention yesterday, and will probably nominate a ticket. Gen. Fisk is absent on account of his recent declaration in the Voice that he was in favor of endorsing the nominees of other parties who were pledged to the local option principle. He expected to be abused. For similar reasons other conservative temperance men stayed away, and of the 600 delegates elected only 250 appeared. Even with this clear field for the extremists, a strong letter from George Henry of Jersey City in favor of local option was squelched in the committee on resolutions, it being feared that if the question was brought before the convention in any form it would lead to excitement and division.

This little packed convention of "holier-than-thou" fellows will go through the farce of nominating a ticket to be deserted by one-half of those who have been hitherto counted among the party. The flight of the Prohibition candidate for President last fall, in order that he may escape the wrangling of differing wings and the personal abuse prepared for himself, is the most significant event of the occasion. It proves that the power of the organization to bind the intelligence and conscience of candid and practical men is broken.

DELAWARE'S GREATEST INSTITUTION.

Here is what Gov. Biggs of Delaware said in eulogy of the virtues of the whipping post at the Tammany celebration:

There is not a single penitentiary in Delaware today. If a man beats his wife or sets fire to his neighbor's barn, or breaks into a house, he isn't shut up with a lot of other criminals, with full time and opportunity to learn all their tricks of deviltry that he did not know before. As a preventive of crime the whipping-post has a much greater terror than a term in the penitentiary, and I have never known of a man that came back for a second dose. He simply leaves the state. Maybe he comes to New York; I don't know.

We think the Governor explained in this the phenomenon of a Republican majority in Delaware last fall. Every fellow who gets whipped leaves the state, and thus the Democratic party is reduced. Let us deride the Blue Hen's pet institution no more.

PUBLIC OPINION.

The saloon Democracy is doing its annual wooing of the Prohibition maiden, who seems very much inclined, as usual, to receive the attentions of a beau who can draw a big check.—Binghamton Republican.

Governor Hill wants an "enumeration," and is going to bring back the Legislature to Albany, so 'tis said. A census in 1889 is not one in 1885. The Governor has already shown his hand in that matter.—Albany Express.

The attention of free traders is invited to the fact that France has free ships and yet buys her ships ready made in Great Britain. The mastication, deglutition and digestion of this important fact may afford the free trade editors occupation during vacation.—Cleveland Leader.

The common law on the subject of a common scold defines one as "communis rixatrix," which is in the feminine gender. This common law was originated before the New York Times and Evening Post got into the hands of the gentlemen who now conduct them.—Albany Times, Dem.

As long as President Harrison—as Secretary Halford declares—gives seventy-two hours a week to public business and only five to the office-seekers the Democratic and Mugwump newspapers needn't be alarmed lest the Chief Magistrate should not earn his salary.—Buffalo Express.

The New York World alludes to Pension Commissioner Tanner as "a source of trouble." So he is to the Democratic party, but a source of blessing to the old soldiers who for four years had the cold shoulder of the Federal Administration turned on them, so that a surplus might be piled up in the Treasury to excuse the Cleveland free trade policy. Tanner's all right, and the veterans know it.—New York Graphic.

Twenty thousand tons of European beet sugar have recently been imported at Philadelphia, upon which the goverment collected the needless duty of $185,000. How quick the sugar trust would come down from its high horse, if the tariff were removed from refined sugar or even reduced one-half. Probably the trust sees the point and is bound to squeeze the people all it can, till its day of doom comes.—Springfield Union.

It is said that some London men want to buy the Chicago gas works. A few days ago there was a report that Englishmen were trying to buy the great Minneapolis flour mills, just before that a company of Britishers made an offer for an American watch factory, the buying of breweries is well known, and many other similar things are reported. Perhaps it is all of no great consequence politically, but it is certainly interesting to see men living in a land of glorious free trade so very anxious to invest money in manufacturing in this benighted country of protection.—New York Press.

ITCHING AGONIES.

Every Night I Scratched Until the Skin was Raw.

Body Covered with Scales like Spots of Mortar. An Awful Spectacle. Doctors Useless. Cure Hopeless. Entirely Cured by the Cuticura Remedies in Five Weeks.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompained by itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales, being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see and advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I recommended the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

Relief Instantaneous, Cure Rapid, Radical and Permanent.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and injures the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Radical Cure has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling, and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell and taste, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh

Consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and Improved Inhaler, all in one package; price $1. Ask for Sanford's Radical Cure. Sold everywhere.

AN EXTRA SESSION AT ALBANY.

The announcement is made that Gov. Hill is going to call the Legislature into extra session again, and ask it to pass an enumeration bill. The Governor has been exceedingly anxious on the subject ever since he made his fatal blunder in 1885. He has at the opening of several campaigns announced his intention to carry the Legislature in order that he might have his way on this matter, but by each successive election the Legislature is made a little more strongly Republican than before. He has talked very loudly on the subject this summer, but his fresher blunders in the veto of the liquor license and tax bills has made it appear to him that the Legislature is much more likely to be two-thirds Republican in both houses than Democratic by the narrowest majority. An extra session would divert attention from the campaign for a while and it is possible that the Governor has hopes that the Legislasure will pass an enumeration bill. So anxious is he on the subject that it is understood that he will gladly sign the very bill that he vetoed in 1885, if the Legislature will pass it and send it to him.

But he will not get even this. The Legislature last year gave him to understand its views on this question at the extra session by treating his request with silent contempt. He would expect a political advantage from the apportionment that would follow an enumeration, and a Republican Legislature is not likely to violate the constitution by passing a bill in 1889 which could only be lawfully passed in 1885, to gratify him and weaken its own party. If the bill of 1885 were re-enacted it would be too late to secure the $120,000 that the federal government was ready to hand over in 1885, and the state would have to bear the entire expense. Then again, all the statistics of value in regard to the domestic affairs of the state will be obtained through the national census next year, and the people who have waited four years will be patient for another year. An enumeration or census this year would be of political value only, and the benefit would accrue wholly to the whisky party with which the Governor has allied himself, and possibly put it in possession of the Legislature and the entire machinery of state government. The little inequality of representation which the existing apportionment has created is a very small affair compared with the great calamity of government by the whisky power.

It will cost the state at least $10,000 to hold an extra session, and nothing will be done. The Republican party is in possession of the Legislature, and that party is determined that the Governor shall swallow all the bitter fruit of his foolish veto—a veto inspired by personal jealousy of the Republican Secretary of State—by postponing the next census until 1895, when the constitution will again require it. Gov. Hill will then be out of office, and his successor, whether Republican or Democrat, will not be in the least danger of repeating his folly.

HOGGISHNESS AT JOHNSTOWN.

Human nature is as weak and selfish at Johnstown as elsewhere. At the distribution of funds to the sufferers yesterday there was a good deal of grumbling. Here is a sample. C. L. Dick, who appears to be a lawyer and wears good clothes, lost $5,000 worth of real estate. The voucher handed to him yesterday called for $80. On receiving it he held it up to the crowd and "uttered some sentences that would scarcely do to appear in print." Mr. Dick spoke of a neighbor who had lost two fine properties and had only the lots remaining, and contemptuously remarked that he also would receive $80. Another remark by Mr. Dick was in execration of Gov. Beaver. He said he had been a Republican all his life, but would walk twenty miles to vote for any Democrat to beat the Governor.

In another crowd were some poorer people who were glad and grateful to get anything. Women weak from sickness, in torn dresses, destitute of shoes and carrying children in their arms were among them. They are the real sufferers, and it was for these especially that the whole nation opened its heart. It did not propose to rebuild the mills and houses of the well-to-do, but it did seek to relieve immediate want. It did not propose to take up the cause of the prosperous who were instantly reduced to poverty and restore their prosperity, but it did intend to relieve these along with all who had suffered. The contributions, great as their aggregate appears, were not a tithe of the losses. Men must begin life over again without assistance from the benevolent fund, just the same as if the financial ruin which has come upon them were caused by unfortunate ventures or unwise calculations.

The fund is big enough to relieve instant suffering. It is probable that Mr. Dick will be able to maintain life for a few weeks on the $80 that he has received. Then he may receive a share of another distribution which is to be made, or he may find some source of living that will make him independent. His contemptuous acceptance of the money after threatening to refuse to comply with the conditions on which he received it would indicate a certain amount of confidence that he is already able to take care of himself. The different conduct of the very poor is conclusive proof that the grateful people were not all drowned and that all who escaped are not hogs.

NEW JERSEY PROHIBITIONISTS.

The extremists got control of the New Jersey State Prohibition convention yesterday, and will probably nominate a ticket. Gen. Fisk is absent on account of his recent declaration in the Voice that he was in favor of endorsing the nominees of other parties who were pledged to the local option principle. He expected to be abused. For similar reasons other conservative temperance men stayed away, and of the 600 delegates elected only 250 appeared. Even with this clear field for the extremists, a strong letter from George Henry of Jersey City in favor of local option was squelched in the committee on resolutions, it being feared that if the question was brought before the convention in any form it would lead to excitement and division.

This little packed convention of "holier-than-thou" fellows will go through the farce of nominating a ticket to be deserted by one-half of those who have been hitherto counted among the party. The flight of the Prohibition candidate for President last fall, in order that he may escape the wrangling of differing wings and the personal abuse prepared for himself, is the most significant event of the occasion. It proves that the power of the organization to bind the intelligence and conscience of candid and practical men is broken.

DELAWARE'S GREATEST INSTITUTION.

Here is what Gov. Biggs of Delaware said in eulogy of the virtues of the whipping post at the Tammany celebration:

> There is not a single penitentiary in Delaware today. If a man beats his wife or sets fire to his neighbor's barn, or breaks into a house, he isn't shut up with a lot of other criminals, with full time and opportunity to learn all their tricks of deviltry that he did not know before. As a preventive of crime the whipping-post has a much greater terror than a term in the penitentiary, and I have never known of a man that came back for a second dose. He simply leaves the state. Maybe he comes to New York; I don't know.

We think the Governor explained in this the phenomenon of a Republican majority in Delaware last fall. Every fellow who gets whipped leaves the state, and thus the Democratic party is reduced. Let us deride the Blue Hen's pet institution no more.

PUBLIC OPINION.

The saloon Democracy is doing its annual wooing of the Prohibition maiden, who seems very much inclined, as usual, to receive the attentions of a beau who can draw a big check.—Binghamton Republican.

Governor Hill wants an "enumeration," and is going to bring back the Legislature to Albany, so 'tis said. A census in 1889 is not one in 1885. The Governor has already shown his hand in that matter.—Albany Express.

The attention of free traders is invited to the fact that France has free ships and yet buys her ships ready made in Great Britain. The mastication, deglutition and digestion of this important fact may afford the free trade editors occupation during vacation.—Cleveland Leader.

The common law on the subject of a common scold defines one as "communis rixatrix," which is in the feminine gender. This common law was originated before the New York Times and Evening Post got into the hands of the gentlemen who now conduct them.—Albany Times, Dem.

As long as President Harrison—as Secretary Halford declares—gives seventy-two hours a week to public business and only five to the office-seekers the Democratic and Mugwump newspapers needn't be alarmed lest the Chief Magistrate should not earn his salary.—Buffalo Express.

The New York World alludes to Pension Commissioner Tanner as "a source of trouble." So he is to the Democratic party, but a source of blessing to the old soldiers who for four years had the cold shoulder of the Federal Administration turned on them, so that a surplus might be piled up in the Treasury to excuse the Cleveland free trade policy. Tanner's all right, and the veterans know it.—New York Graphic.

Twenty thousand tons of European beet sugar have recently been imported at Philadelphia, upon which the goverment collected the needless duty of $185,000. How quick the sugar trust would come down from its high horse, if the tariff were removed from refined sugar or even reduced one-half. Probably the trust sees the point and is bound to squeeze the people all it can, till its day of doom comes.—Springfield Union.

It is said that some London men want to buy the Chicago gas works. A few days ago there was a report that Englishmen were trying to buy the great Minneapolis flour mills, just before that a company of Britishers made an offer for an American watch factory, the buying of breweries is well known, and many other similar things are reported. Perhaps it is all of no great consequence politically, but it is certainly interesting to see men living in a land of glorious free trade so very anxious to invest money in manufacturing in this benighted country of protection.—New York Press.

ITCHING AGONIES.

Every Night I Scratched Until the Skin was Raw.

Body Covered with Scales like Spots of Mortar. An Awful Spectacle. Doctors Useless. Cure Hopeless. Entirely Cured by the Cuticura Remedies in Five Weeks.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompained by itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales, being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see and advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I recommended the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

Relief Instantaneous, Cure Rapid, Radical and Permanent.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and injures the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Radical Cure has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling, and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell and taste, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh

AN EXTRA SESSION AT ALBANY.

The announcement is made that Gov. Hill is going to call the Legislature into extra session again, and ask it to pass an enumeration bill. The Governor has been exceedingly anxious on the subject ever since he made his fatal blunder in 1885. He has at the opening of several campaigns announced his intention to carry the Legislature in order that he might have his way on this matter, but by each successive election the Legislature is made a little more strongly Republican than before. He has talked very loudly on the subject this summer, but his fresher blunders in the veto of the liquor license and tax bills has made it appear to him that the Legislature is much more likely to be two-thirds Republican in both houses than Democratic by the narrowest majority. An extra session would divert attention from the campaign for a while and it is possible that the Governor has hopes that the Legislasure will pass an enumeration bill. So anxious is he on the subject that it is understood that he will gladly sign the very bill that he vetoed in 1885, if the Legislature will pass it and send it to him.

But he will not get even this. The Legislature last year gave him to understand its views on this question at the extra session by treating his request with silent contempt. He would expect a political advantage from the apportionment that would follow an enumeration, and a Republican Legislature is not likely to violate the constitution by passing a bill in 1889 which could only be lawfully passed in 1885, to gratify him and weaken its own party. If the bill of 1885 were re-enacted it would be too late to secure the $120,000 that the federal government was ready to hand over in 1885, and the state would have to bear the entire expense. Then again, all the statistics of value in regard to the domestic affairs of the state will be obtained through the national census next year, and the people who have waited four years will be patient for another year. An enumeration or census this year would be of political value only, and the benefit would accrue wholly to the whisky party with which the Governor has allied himself, and possibly put it in possession of the Legislature and the entire machinery of state government. The little inequality of representation which the existing apportionment has created is a very small affair compared with the great calamity of government by the whisky power.

It will cost the state at least $10,000 to hold an extra session, and nothing will be done. The Republican party is in possession of the Legislature, and that party is determined that the Governor shall swallow all the bitter fruit of his foolish veto—a veto inspired by personal jealousy of the Republican Secretary of State—by postponing the next census until 1895, when the constitution will again require it. Gov. Hill will then be out of office, and his successor, whether Republican or Democrat, will not be in the least danger of repeating his folly.

HOGGISHNESS AT JOHNSTOWN.

Human nature is as weak and selfish at Johnstown as elsewhere. At the distribution of funds to the sufferers yesterday there was a good deal of grumbling. Here is a sample. C. L. Dick, who appears to be a lawyer and wears good clothes, lost $5,000 worth of real estate. The voucher handed to him yesterday called for $80. On receiving it he held it up to the crowd and "uttered some sentences that would scarcely do to appear in print." Mr. Dick spoke of a neighbor who had lost two fine properties and had only the lots remaining, and contemptuously remarked that he also would receive $80. Another remark by Mr. Dick was in execration of Gov. Beaver. He said he had been a Republican all his life, but would walk twenty miles to vote for any Democrat to beat the Governor.

In another crowd were some poorer people who were glad and grateful to get anything. Women weak from sickness, in torn dresses, destitute of shoes and carrying children in their arms were among them. They are the real sufferers, and it was for these especially that the whole nation opened its heart. It did not propose to rebuild the mills and houses of the well-to-do, but it did seek to relieve immediate want. It did not propose to take up the cause of the prosperous who were instantly reduced to poverty and restore their prosperity, but it did intend to relieve these along with all who had suffered. The contributions, great as their aggregate appears, were not a tithe of the losses. Men must begin life over again without assistance from the benevolent fund, just the same as if the financial ruin which has come upon them were caused by unfortunate ventures or unwise calculations.

The fund is big enough to relieve instant suffering. It is probable that Mr. Dick will be able to maintain life for a few weeks on the $80 that he has received. Then he may receive a share of another distribution which is to be made, or he may find some source of living that will make him independent. His contemptuous acceptance of the money after threatening to refuse to comply with the conditions on which he received it would indicate a certain amount of confidence that he is already able to take care of himself. The different conduct of the very poor is conclusive proof that the grateful people were not all drowned and that all who escaped are not hogs.

NEW JERSEY PROHIBITIONISTS.

The extremists got control of the New Jersey State Prohibition convention yesterday, and will probably nominate a ticket. Gen. Fisk is absent on account of his recent declaration in the Voice that he was in favor of endorsing the nominees of other parties who were pledged to the local option principle. He expected to be abused. For similar reasons other conservative temperance men stayed away, and of the 600 delegates elected only 250 appeared. Even with this clear field for the extremists, a strong letter from George Henry of Jersey City in favor of local option was squelched in the committee on resolutions, it being feared that if the question was brought before the convention in any form it would lead to excitement and division.

This little packed convention of "holier-than-thou" fellows will go through the farce of nominating a ticket to be deserted by one-half of those who have been hitherto counted among the party. The flight of the Prohibition candidate for President last fall, in order that he may escape the wrangling of differing wings and the personal abuse prepared for himself, is the most significant event of the occasion. It proves that the power of the organization to bind the intelligence and conscience of candid and practical men is broken.

DELAWARE'S GREATEST INSTITUTION.

Here is what Gov. Biggs of Delaware said in eulogy of the virtues of the whipping post at the Tammany celebration:

> There is not a single penitentiary in Delaware to-day. If a man beats his wife or sets fire to his neighbor's barn, or breaks into a house, he isn't shut up with a lot of other criminals, with full time and opportunity to learn all their tricks of deviltry that he did not know before. As a preventive of crime the whipping-post has a much greater terror than a term in the penitentiary, and I have never known of a man that came back for a second dose. He simply leaves the state. Maybe he comes to New York; I don't know.

We think the Governor explained in this the phenomenon of a Republican majority in Delaware last fall. Every fellow who gets whipped leaves the state, and thus the Democratic party is reduced. Let us deride the Blue Hen's pet institution no more.

PUBLIC OPINION.

The saloon Democracy is doing its annual wooing of the Prohibition maiden, who seems very much inclined, as usual, to receive the attentions of a beau who can draw a big check.—Binghamton Republican.

Governor Hill wants an "enumeration," and is going to bring back the Legislature to Albany, so 'tis said. A census in 1889 is not one in 1885. The Governor has already shown his hand in that matter.—Albany Express.

The attention of free traders is invited to the fact that France has free ships and yet buys her ships ready made in Great Britain. The mastication, deglutition and digestion of this important fact may afford the free trade editors occupation during vacation.—Cleveland Leader.

The common law on the subject of a common scold defines one as "communis rixatrix," which is in the feminine gender. This common law was originated before the New York Times and Evening Post got into the hands of the gentlemen who now conduct them.—Albany Times, Dem.

As long as President Harrison—as Secretary Halford declares—gives seventy-two hours a week to public business and only five to the office-seekers the Democratic and Mugwump newspapers needn't be alarmed lest the Chief Magistrate should not earn his salary.—Buffalo Express.

The New York World alludes to Pension Commissioner Tanner as "a source of trouble." So he is to the Democratic party, but a source of blessing to the old soldiers who for four years had the cold shoulder of the Federal Administration turned on them, so that a surplus might be piled up in the Treasury to excuse the Cleveland free trade policy. Tanner's all right, and the veterans know it.—New York Graphic.

Twenty thousand tons of European beet sugar have recently been imported at Philadelphia, upon which the goverment collected the needless duty of $185,000. How quick the sugar trust would come down from its high horse, if the tariff were removed from refined sugar or even reduced one-half. Probably the trust sees the point and is bound to squeeze the people all it can, till its day of doom comes.—Springfield Union.

It is said that some London men want to buy the Chicago gas works. A few days ago there was a report that Englishmen were trying to buy the great Minneapolis flour mills, just before that a company of Britishers made an offer for an American watch factory, the buying of breweries is well known, and many other similar things are reported. Perhaps it is all of no great consequence politically, but it is certainly interesting to see men living in a land of glorious free trade so very anxious to invest money in manufacturing in this benighted country of protection.—New York Press.

ITCHING AGONIES.

Every Night I Scratched Until the Skin was Raw.

Body Covered with Scales like Spots of Mortar. An Awful Spectacle. Doctors Useless. Cure Hopeless. Entirely Cured by the Cuticura Remedies in Five Weeks.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompained by itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales, being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see and advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis I recommended the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

Relief Instantaneous, Cure Rapid, Radical and Permanent.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and injures the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Radical Cure has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling, and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell and taste, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh

Consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and Improved Inhaler, all in one package; price $1. Ask for Sanford's Radical Cure. Sold everywhere

STORY ABOUT THE BOWERY.

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF THAT GREAT THOROUGHFARE DEPICTED.

A Bartender Tells How Wilk, the "Chap That Used to Clean Spittoons and Sweep The Floor Got Religion And Sung Gospel Hymns"—A Touch of Pathos.

[Reprinted.]

The rail around the bar shone in the gaslight like polished silver. The rosewood bar itself, with its heavy mouldings and its exquisite mechanical finish, would have been regarded by a Prohibitionist as a lamentable instance of art work misplaced. The gleaming mirror, fit for a King's palace, reflected the shining back of the bartender's head, which had been newly barbered, and the faces of two men standing before the bar. One of these faces was seamed with purple rivulets, and in the eyes there was a wolfish glare as they looked upon the tempting array of bottles bearing such suggestive golden mottoes as "Old Rye," "Old Crow," "Kentucky Sour Mash," and others equally alluring. The bartender wore a white apron and an immaculate shirt front, upon which glistened a diamond as large as a baby's little finger nail. His black mustache was waxed to a painfully acute stiffness. He looked rosy, fresh and smiling until his eye took in the forlorn figure at the bar. Then his face assumed a hard, cynical look as he said:

"Say, Jack, ain't it about your bedtime?"

Jack tried to smile, for the cuckoo had just come out of the expensive clock on the shelf and announced the fact that it was only 9 o'clock. Besides, Jack's bedtime had no fixed status in the order of time. Jack meant that smile to be cheerful and propitiary. He meant it to be understood as evoked by the wit of the bartender. But somehow it didn't convey such a meaning to the bartender, for he continued:

"It's no use, Jack; you won't get a mouthful o' gin or brandy or beer here to-night. That's the kind of a huckleberry I am, an' that's the kind of a raspberry you are. See!"

"Billy, ole chap, jist a mouthful for the sake of old times! Hey, what d'ye say? You know an' the boss knows that hundreds o' dollars o' my rocks has slid into that till. Come, Billy, jist a little taste. Only a spoonful. The fires of hell is burnin' me up."

There were tears in his voice, but the bartender was obdurate. Then Jack raised his clenched hand toward the ceiling and said:

"May the curse—"

He was interrupted by the appearance of another man from the end of the room which was in shadow. The man caught Jack's hand in a powerful grip, and led him outside the door. Turning to a stranger, who had been an interested spectator of the scene, the barkeeper said:

"Stranger, I suppose you got onto that feller what took Jack out. Well, he's the whitest man there is this side o' Greenwood Cemetery, and don't you forget it. Do you know what he's a doin' now? He's a takin' Jack 'round to the Y. M. C. A. to get some coffee. Who is he? Why, he's Wilk, what cleans out the spittoons and sweeps up the floor. He polished the rail you're leanin' on, he did. Kin ye find any fly specks on that mirror? Well, I guess not. Oh, he's a Jim Dandy, he is. There ain't no moss on Wilk, stranger. But I'm afraid I'm goin' to lose him. Fact is, stranger, he's in love an' he's got religion. Kind o' funny to have two diseases like them to once, ain't it? Well, Wilk's got 'em both, an' they've struck inside. Let's see, did he get religion or love first? I kind o' think he got the love first. Yes, I remember now. He's been lovesick about two weeks, an' it's just about ten days since that shoutin' Methodist Harrison got onto him an' hauled him to the altar down there in John-street, where he's sockin' it to Jay Gool an' them other rich fellers. You see, Wilk was goin' down for me to git a bottle o' bitters an' he went by the door o' the John-Street Church where they've got signs hung out to come in an' have a rest from sin an' all that. Music was a-comin' out o' the door an' Wilk, like a darn fool, 'stead o' comin' home with my bitters, goes in an' sets in the last seat near the door. Mind ye, Wilk didn't tell me anything about this, but one o' my friends seen Wilk, an' he told me all about it. Well, Wilk set there awhile, an' pretty soon that jumpin' jack revival feller jumps up an' asks if anybody wants to take a new grip an' shake theirselves along the narrer way, an' dod blast my coppers if Wilk didn't git right up on his pins an' say he wanted to take a hand in the game."

"Yes, sir; Wilk got right up an' says that's the kind of a clothespin he was. He 'lowed he'd been kickin' up the dust on the road what leads to hell an' damnation long enough, an' now he was ready to go huskin' corn in the Lord's cornfield. Did they take him in? Well, I should twitter. The sistern cried over him, an' the brethring slapped him on the back an' said: 'Go it, old chap; you'll get there when the general roll is called.' They wanted him to throw away the bottle of bitters he had for me, but he said it wouldn't be a square deal, an' he wouldn't do it. An' they landed a mighty fine fish when they struck Wilk, for he can sing like a nightingale. Ha! ha! ha! Makes me laugh when I think of it. Ye see, the other night there was a party o' bucks in here, an' they knowed Jack was a corkin' singer, 'cause they'd heard him before.

"They jerked him out in front o' the bar, just where you're standin', and said he'd got to sing. 'Well, gentlemen,' said he, 'I'll sing, but maybe you won't like the song.' It didn't make a — bit of difference to them, they said, only he must sing. He took a little book out o' his pocket, kind o' hawked to clear his throat, and began to sing. What d'ye spose he sung, stranger? 'Twas a little gospel song. So thunderin' pooty it was that I learned the first verse myself.

I will sing of a beautiful city,
Far away in the mansions of light;
I will tell how its walls are of jasper,
How its streets are all golden and bright,

"Etcetery, Yankee Doodle and Christopher Columbus; that's all I can remember. But them chaps didn't want any more songs, an' they got kind o' quiet like after that an' went out."

The stranger remarked in a casual and disinterested manner something to the effect that he thought he had heard the bartender speak about love in connection with Wilk.

"You're right, stranger," said the loquacious dispenser of liquids. "I did say Wilk was stuck on a girl, an, that's just what galls me, for I'm kind o' gone on the same fairy myself. She lives up the street with an old English widder what likes her glass o' beer afore she turns in at night. Just about the time every night that the cucco comes out o' the clock an' sings ten times, Mag—that's the short of her name for Margaret—comes 'round to the family entrance with a can in a basket. Lord love you, sir, she wouldn't carry the can in her fist; not she. Mag gets one pint; no more, no less. You'd ought to see her, stranger. She's a little mite, not much bigger'n a pint of cider; but they do say as how the best goods come done up in the smallest parcels. Her eyes is brown, sir; just the color o' beer when you looks at it under the white collar o' foam. I'll bet this here di'mon' pin what I paid $20 to a Jew for on the instaliment racket, and what I'm only owin' $2 on, that you'd fall in love with her yourself if you seen her once. An' her hair! I'll be ham-strung if I don't believe it would reach to her feet if she once took the pins out! An' when she grins! 'Scuse me, I ought to said smiles, 'cause such kind as Mag don't grin. An' when she smiles, as I said—say, stranger, you've seen rainbows, hain't you? Well that's what her smile is, a rainbow smile, a kind of a promise of sunshine after rain. You know there's smiles an' smiles. Some gals yawp when they grins as if their heads would drop off when their mouth opens, but Mag ain't none o' that kind. Her cheeks just widen a little an' dimples comes in 'em like your mother used to make in a green loaf o' bread with her little finger before she put it in the oven. An' them cheeks o' hers! Why, they're just the color o' Jersey peaches. To tell the truth, stranger, I'm dead stuck on her myself. Now, I asks you, if it's a fair question, what right Wilk, who's only a supe round here, has got to git mashed on a girl like that?

"Look here, he ain't got nothin', ain't Wilk! Then look at me. Now, I'm a darn sight better lookin' than Wilk, ain't I, stranger? I'll leave it to you, honest! You seen him an' you seen me. If I ain't got more style in my little finger than Wilk's got in his whole body, I'll eat my shirt, buttons and all."

The long finger of the clock had been slowly swinging around the circle, and it was near the time for the cuckoo to come out and sing 10. The jangle of horse cars came in at the latticed door. An ambulance went by ringing its alarm. There was a quick step on the sidewalk, the door flew open, and in came Wilk reeking with perspiration. The bartender grinned and whispered, while his hand described a circle over the left side of his mouth.

"It's about time for the fairy to come. See him look at the clock! He thinks he's late."

Wilk took a seat near the family entrance. Taking a little book from his pocket he looked at the pages with an abstracted gaze, for his attention was really given up to listening.

"D'ye know what he's a readin' now? No! Why, that's the new part of the Bible, where it tells that story about hauling in so many fish that the net broke, an' that other little yarn about the man as was stoned to death. But Wilk's always readin' about the 'Postle Paul what went down to Jericho or some other old fashioned place. He wrote a lot, did Paul, about how to keep sober and go to church three times on Sunday. He was a great chap for writin' letters to the Hebrews an' the Irish an' Dutch. In one o' them letters to some o' them furriners he kind o' got down on his marrer bones himself, for he said it was mighty hard work thinkin' to be good with his head an' doin' bad with his hands. That's the letter Wilk's always readin.' Hush! Look at him now!"

The bartender held up his hand in a warning gesture. Wilk had put the book in his pocket and was leaning over. His eyes shone and his lips were parted. The two men listened, too. There was a lull in the noises in the street, and the two men, by straining their sense of hearing, became aware that the door of the family entrance had opened. The cuckoo came out of the clock and made its usual hourly announcement. Wilk's face was flushed, and he stepped quickly to the little compartment, which now contained the object of his heart's desire. A low ripple of laughter floated into the barroom.

"Hear that?" said the bartender "He's giving her some of his honey guff!"

Then followed an interval of whispering and the door leading into the barroom opened and Wilk came out. He carried in his hand a neat little basket. This he set carefully upon the floor, lifted the cover and removed a shining one-quart tin pail. Walking to the brazen spigot projecting from the beer keg in the ice-box, he drew the pail full of a brown liquid capped with foam. Then he returned the pail to the basket and closed the lid. After the door had closed behind him there was more whispering, but the only words which the two men could distinguish were, "Oh, ain't you awful!" in a woman's voice. The outer door closed and the bartender said:

"He's gone home with her."

Ten minutes elapsed during which time the bartender seemed moody and busied himself rearranging the already orderly bottles. Then Wilk returned. He walked straight to the bar. The passion and yearning and ardor of a soul aflame was about him. It shone in his eyes. It glorified the face marked with lines of dissipation. Holding his hand across the rosewood counter which he had polished so often Wilk said:

"Good-by, Jim, old man; I'm goin' to leave you. The Young Men's Christian Association folks has got a job for me down on West-street, watchin' nights, an' I'm goin' to get $12 a week. I've got a hundred o' them green slips o' paper with Uncle Sam's name on 'em in the bank, an'——"

"Glad to hear it, old chap. Hope you'll come to see me once in a while."

Wilk flushed and ran his eye over the familiar bottles. Then he stammered out:

"J-J-Jim, I won't be able t-t-to come very often."

"Why not? You'll have all your days to yourself."

Wilk looked at his old confrere with something of pity in his glance.

"Well, the fact is—the facts, Jim, is—that that—Mag and me is goin' to git hitched next Sunday, an' I'll have to stay with her most of the time when I ain't workin'."

The bartender bent his head and busied himself under the bar. When he raised his head his face was pale, and he winked his eyes suspiciously. This he explained by saying there was a Bermuda onion behind the bar. Just as the cuckoo came out with a soft cooing to the effect that another 60 minutes had gone by, three men touched glasses in a parting drink, and Wilk took ginger ale. —New-York Sun.

An Alleged Plot in France—What Democrats Of Mississippi Have Done—Rhode Island's License Bill—The Scotch Local Government Bill—The "Irish Problem," Etc.

A correspondent writing to the New York Times from Port au Prince, Hayti, under date of July 7, says: Port au Prince within the last few days has been in a state bordering on frenzy. Hippolyte has assaulted the extreme outworks. He is being held in check at the present writing. Legitime is impressing into the ranks every man capable of carrying a rifle. The people have been delirious with excitement. The Minister of War has executed some of the prisoners with his own hands. Hippolyte is burning farm houses and villages in the very sight of the City. All foreigners have been threatened with extermination, but the United States naval force on hand is prepared to take the City if necessary. The Kearsarge and Ossipee are here. The British cruiser Forward has come in under a full head of steam. She left Jamaica on a six hours' notice, and in her eagerness for the run jumped her anchor from the bottom. The Spanish cruisers Comba and Sanchez have both arrived. They report a French man-of-war on the way. The Kearsarge and Ossipee are in good shelling positions. All the guns are ready for firing. The combined forces of the foreign warships are prepared to effect a lading at a moment's notice. A system of signals has been established with the American Consulate, and the moment the danger flag is exhibited picked infantry companies from the Kearsarge and Ossipee will jump for the boats. The Captain of the British cruiser declares that if one Englishman is touched he will open every gun in his batteries. The American ships will not be second in this. Everybody aboard the Kearsarge and Ossipee are ready for the assault. The moment Hippolyte comes over the breastworks he will find a row of bayonets and cutlasses encircling the American residents. Hippolyte's nearest position is within almost a mile of the City. It is rumored that his force numbers 10,000 men. It is now a question of but a few days before the end is at hand. Port au Prince knows it, and men, women and children are prepared to die with Legitime. The feeling against the foreigners is one of bitter hatred, and it needs but a spark to turn the whole native population into a frenzied mob. Commanders Sheppard and Kellogg are on the watch at every point. Admiral Gherardi considers himself able to protect every American resident. It is out of the question to take any one aboard, and, with the Kearsarge and Ossipee at hand, their present position is almost as safe as if on the deck of the war vessel. The signal men keep their glasses trained every moment of the time on the station established ashore, and there will be ample time to open a flanking fire before any advancing crowd can reach the American Consulate. So serious has been the aspect of affairs that none of the ships have dared to leave for St. Nichols Mole to place themselves in communication with their Governments. The heat is terrible. The thermometer registers 98° in the face of a moderate breeze. A high humidity percentage prevails and if it continues long it will play havoc among the crews that may be sent on shore. The docks are piled high with household goods and the effects of the populace. The people have all endeavored to get as near the water as possible. The great mass can get no further, as the few available shore boats are in constant requisition. Even if the means of transportation to the opposite shore were better, many are in such straitened circumstances that they could offer no compensation.

The Paris Temps says that cipher telegrams have been discovered proving that General Boulanger was at the head of a plot to march upon the Elysee Palace, and that several officers of high rank had promised him their support. The charges of embezzlement against Boulanger relate to the purchase of camp bedsteads and other supplies for the troops and to malversation of the funds of the War Ministry. The General is also accused of using the funds of the War Ministry to buy shares in the Military Club, and of keeping the shares thus bought in his own possession. A copy of the indictment found against General Boulanger was formally delivered at his residence in Paris yesterday. It summons General Boulanger, M. Rochefort and Count Dillon to appear within 10 days. If they do not appear within 20 days, they will be declared outlaws, and their property will be confiscated until the surrender. It is said that the trial has been fixed for August 10. The judgment will be final, no appeal being allowed. The accused are charged with instigating the issue of manifestoes against the Government in July, 1887, at Lyons and Paris, and in December, 1887, at Paris.

The Democratic Convention of Mississippi has nominated ex-Governor Stone for Governor. The platform adopts the principles of the last National platform; deprecates monopolies and trusts on one hand and communism on the other; condemns the tariff maintained by the Republican party; repudiates all feeling of sectional prejudices, expresses joy over every indication of full and free sympathy between all parts of the Union, and hails with delight a better knowledge each of the other, and the dawn of a hearty feeling of brotherhood where hatred finds no exponent in party measures; favors immigration, encouragement to all industries, and especially to new investment of capital in manufactures; approves of the "vigorous acts of Governor Lowry in his attempts to prevent the violation of our laws in the late brutal prize-fight."

Warrants were obtained from Justice Prindiville, of Chicago, yesterday, for the arrest of Attorney Stephen A. Douglas, Jr., C. D. Hooker and R. D. Davidson, a detective. They charge the parties with being involved in a questionable real estate transaction by means of which $3,000 was obtained from William Rance. In the absence of Mr. Douglas, a friend of his who is cognizant of the transaction says that it was perfectly regular and legitimate.

No sub-classes of licenses are provided for in the bill, and everybody who wants to handle liquor of any kind must pay either the wholesalers' or retailers' fee. The bill has passed the House.

General W. T. Sherman, who arrived at Leavenworth, Kans., late Tuesday night, from Fort Riley, was met by General McCook and staff at the station. The party were at once driven to the Fort. General Sherman reviewed the troops of the garrison Wednesday afternoon and left at night for New-York.

STORY ABOUT THE BOWERY.

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF THAT GREAT THOROUGHFARE DEPICTED.

A Bartender Tells How Wilk, the "Chap That Used to Clean Spittoons and Sweep The Floor Got Religion And Sung Gospel Hymns"—A Touch of Pathos.

[Reprinted.]

The rail around the bar shone in the gaslight like polished silver. The rosewood bar itself, with its heavy mouldings and its exquisite mechanical finish, would have been regarded by a Prohibitionist as a lamentable instance of art work misplaced. The gleaming mirror, fit for a King's palace, reflected the shining back of the bartender's head, which had been newly barbered, and the faces of two men standing before the bar. One of these faces was seamed with purple rivulets, and in the eyes there was a wolfish glare as they looked upon the tempting array of bottles bearing such suggestive golden mottoes as "Old Rye," "Old Crow," "Kentucky Sour Mash," and others equally alluring. The bartender wore a white apron and an immaculate shirt front, upon which glistened a diamond as large as a baby's little finger nail. His black mustache was waxed to a painfully acute stiffness. He looked rosy, fresh and smiling until his eye took in the forlorn figure at the bar. Then his face assumed a hard, cynical look as he said:

"Say, Jack, ain't it about your bedtime?"

Jack tried to smile, for the cuckoo had just come out of the expensive clock on the shelf and announced the fact that it was only 9 o'clock. Besides, Jack's bedtime had no fixed status in the order of time. Jack meant that smile to be cheerful and propitiary. He meant it to be understood as evoked by the wit of the bartender. But somehow it didn't convey such a meaning to the bartender, for he continued:

"It's no use, Jack; you won't get a mouthful o' gin or brandy or beer here to-night. That's the kind of a huckleberry I am, an' that's the kind of a raspberry you are. See!"

"Billy, ole chap, jist a mouthful for the sake of old times! Hey, what d'ye say? You know an' the boss knows that hundreds o' dollars o' my rocks has slid into that till. Come, Billy, jist a little taste. Only a spoonful. The fires of hell is burnin' me up."

There were tears in his voice, but the bartender was obdurate. Then Jack raised his clenched hand toward the ceiling and said:

"May the curse—"

He was interrupted by the appearance of another man from the end of the room which was in shadow. The man caught Jack's hand in a powerful grip, and led him outside the door. Turning to a stranger, who had been an interested spectator of the scene, the barkeeper said:

"Stranger, I suppose you got onto that feller what took Jack out. Well, he's the whitest man there is this side o' Greenwood Cemetery, and don't you forget it. Do you know what he's a doin' now? He's a takin' Jack 'round to the Y. M. C. A. to get some coffee. Who is he? Why, he's Wilk, what cleans out the spittoons and sweeps up the floor. He polished the rail you're leanin' on, he did. Kin ye find any fly specks on that mirror? Well, I guess not. Oh, he's a Jim Dandy, he is. There ain't no moss on Wilk, stranger. But I'm afraid I'm goin' to lose him. Fact is, stranger, he's in love an' he's got religion. Kind o' funny to have two diseases like them to once, ain't it? Well, Wilk's got 'em both, an' they've struck inside. Let's see, did he get religion or love first? I kind o' think he got the love first. Yes, I remember now. He's been lovesick about two weeks, an' it's just about ten days since that shoutin' Methodist Harrison got onto him an' hauled him to the altar down there in John-street, where he's sockin' it to Jay Gool an' them other rich fellers. You see, Wilk was goin' down for me to git a bottle o' bitters an' he went by the door o' the John-Street Church where they've got signs hung out to come in an' have a rest from sin an' all that. Music was a-comin' out o' the door an' Wilk, like a darn fool, 'stead o' comin' home with my bitters, goes in an' sets in the last seat near the door. Mind ye, Wilk didn't tell me anything about this, but one o' my friends seen Wilk, an' he told me all about it. Well, Wilk set there awhile, an' pretty soon that jumpin' jack revival feller jumps up an' asks if anybody wants to take a new grip an' shake theirselves along the narrer way, an' dod blast my coppers if Wilk didn't git right up on his pins an' say he wanted to take a hand in the game."

"Yes, sir; Wilk got right up an' says that's the kind of a clothespin he was. He 'lowed he'd been kickin' up the dust on the road what leads to hell an' damnation long enough, an' now he was ready to go huskin' corn in the Lord's cornfield. Did they take him in? Well, I should twitter. The sistern cried over him, an' the brethring slapped him on the back an' said: 'Go it, old chap; you'll get there when the general roll is called.' They wanted him to throw away the bottle of bitters he had for me, but he said it wouldn't be a square deal, an' he wouldn't do it. An' they landed a mighty fine fish when they struck Wilk, for he can sing like a nightingale. Ha! ha! ha! Makes me laugh when I think of it. Ye see, the other night there was a party o' bucks in here, an' they knowed Jack was a corkin' singer, 'cause they'd heard him before.

"They jerked him out in front o' the bar, just where you're standin', and said he'd got to sing. 'Well, gentlemen,' said he, 'I'll sing, but maybe you won't like the song.' It didn't make a — bit of difference to them, they said, only he must sing. He took a little book out o' his pocket, kind o' hawked to clear his throat, and began to sing. What d'ye spose he sung, stranger? 'Twas a little gospel song. So thunderin' pooty it was that I learned the first verse myself.

> I will sing of a beautiful city,
> Far away in the mansions of light;
> I will tell how its walls are of jasper,
> How its streets are all golden and bright,

"Etcetery, Yankee Doodle and Christopher Columbus; that's all I can remember. But them chaps didn't want any more songs, an' they got kind o' quiet like after that an' went out."

The stranger remarked in a casual and disinterested manner something to the effect that he thought he had heard the bartender speak about love in connection with Wilk.

"You're right, stranger," said the loquacious dispenser of liquids. "I did say Wilk was stuck on a girl, an, that's just what galls me, for I'm kind o' gone on the same fairy myself. She lives up the street with an old English widder what likes her glass o' beer afore she turns in at night. Just about the time every night that the cucco comes out o' the clock an' sings ten times, Mag—that's the short of her name for Margaret—comes 'round to the family entrance with a can in a basket. Lord love you, sir, she wouldn't carry the can in her fist; not she. Mag gets one pint; no more, no less. You'd ought to see her, stranger. She's a little mite, not much bigger'n a pint of cider; but they do say as how the best goods come done up in the smallest parcels. Her eyes is brown, sir; just the color o' beer when you looks at it under the white collar o' foam. I'll bet this here di'mon' pin what I paid $20 to a Jew for on the installment racket, and what I'm only owin' $2 on, that you'd fall in love with her yourself if you seen her once. An' her hair! I'll be ham-strung if I don't believe it would reach to her feet if she once took the pins out! An' when she grins! 'Scuse me, I ought to said smiles, 'cause such kind as Mag don't grin. An' when she smiles, as I said—say, stranger, you've seen rainbows, hain't you? Well that's what her smile is, a rainbow smile, a kind of a promise of sunshine after rain. You know there's smiles an' smiles. Some gals yawp when they grins as if their heads would drop off when their mouth opens, but Mag ain't none o' that kind. Her cheeks just widen a little an' dimples comes in 'em like your mother used to make in a green loaf o' bread with her little finger before she put it in the oven. An' them cheeks o' hers! Why, they're just the color o' Jersey peaches. To tell the truth, stranger, I'm dead stuck on her myself. Now, I asks you, if it's a fair question, what right Wilk, who's only a supe round here, has got to git mashed on a girl like that?

"Look here, he ain't got nothin', ain't Wilk! Then look at me. Now, I'm a darn sight better lookin' than Wilk, ain't I, stranger? I'll leave it to you, honest! You seen him an' you seen me. If I ain't got more style in my little finger than Wilk's got in his whole body, I'll eat my shirt, buttons and all."

The long finger of the clock had been slowly swinging around the circle, and it was near the time for the cuckoo to come out and sing 10. The jangle of horse cars came in at the latticed door. An ambulance went by ringing its alarm. There was a quick step on the sidewalk, the door flew open, and in came Wilk reeking with perspiration. The bartender grinned and whispered, while his hand described a circle over the left side of his mouth.

"It's about time for the fairy to come. See him look at the clock! He thinks he's late."

Wilk took a seat near the family entrance. Taking a little book from his pocket he looked at the pages with an abstracted gaze, for his attention was really given up to listening.

"D'ye know what he's a readin' now? No! Why, that's the new part of the Bible, where it tells that story about hauling in so many fish that the net broke, an' that other little yarn about the man as was stoned to death. But Wilk's always readin' about the 'Postle Paul what went down to Jericho or some other old fashioned place. He wrote a lot, did Paul, about how to keep sober and go to church three times on Sunday. He was a great chap for writin' letters to the Hebrews an' the Irish an' Dutch. In one o' them letters to some o' them furriners he kind o' got down on his marrer bones himself, for he said it was mighty hard work thinkin' to be good with his head an' doin' bad with his hands. That's the letter Wilk's always readin.' Hush! Look at him now!"

The bartender held up his hand in a warning gesture. Wilk had put the book in his pocket and was leaning over. His eyes shone and his lips were parted. The two men listened, too. There was a lull in the noises in the street, and the two men, by straining their sense of hearing, became aware that the door of the family entrance had opened. The cuckoo came out of the clock and made its usual hourly announcement. Wilk's face was flushed, and he stepped quickly to the little compartment, which now contained the object of his heart's desire. A low ripple of laughter floated into the barroom.

"Hear that?" said the bartender. "He's giving her some of his honey guff!"

Then followed an interval of whispering and the door leading into the barroom opened and Wilk came out. He carried in his hand a neat little basket. This he set carefully upon the floor, lifted the cover and removed a shining one-quart tin pail. Walking to the brazen spigot projecting from the beer keg in the ice-box, he drew the pail full of a brown liquid capped with foam. Then he returned the pail to the basket and closed the lid. After the door had closed behind him there was more whispering, but the only words which the two men could distinguish were, "Oh, ain't you awful!" in a woman's voice. The outer door closed and the bartender said:

"He's gone home with her."

Ten minutes elapsed during which time the bartender seemed moody and busied himself rearranging the already orderly bottles. Then Wilk returned. He walked straight to the bar. The passion and yearning and ardor of a soul aflame was about him. It shone in his eyes. It glorified the face marked with lines of dissipation. Holding his hand across the rosewood counter which he had polished so often Wilk said:

"Good-by, Jim, old man; I'm goin' to leave you. The Young Men's Christian Association folks has got a job for me down on West-street, watchin' nights, an' I'm goin' to get $12 a week. I've got a hundred o' them green slips o' paper with Uncle Sam's name on 'em in the bank, an'——"

"Glad to hear it, old chap. Hope you'll come to see me once in a while."

Wilk flushed and ran his eye over the familiar bottles. Then he stammered out:

"J-J-Jim, I won't be able t-t-to come very often."

"Why not? You'll have all your days to yourself."

Wilk looked at his old confrere with something of pity in his glance.

"Well, the fact is—the facts, Jim, is—that that—Mag and me is goin' to git hitched next Sunday, an' I'll have to stay with her most of the time when I ain't workin'."

The bartender bent his head and busied himself under the bar. When he raised his head his face was pale, and he winked his eyes suspiciously. This he explained by saying there was a Bermuda onion behind the bar. Just as the cuckoo came out with a soft cooing to the effect that another 60 minutes had gone by, three men touched glasses in a parting drink, and Wilk took ginger ale. —New-York Sun

An Alleged Plot in France—What Democrats Of Mississippi Have Done—Rhode Island's License Bill—The Scotch Local Government Bill—The "Irish Problem," Etc.

A correspondent writing to the New York Times from Port au Prince, Hayti, under date of July 7, says: Port au Prince within the last few days has been in a state bordering on frenzy. Hippolyte has assaulted the extreme outworks. He is being held in check at the present writing. Legitime is impressing into the ranks every man capable of carrying a rifle. The people have been delirious with excitement. The Minister of War has executed some of the prisoners with his own hands. Hippolyte is burning farm houses and villages in the very sight of the City. All foreigners have been threatened with extermination, but the United States naval force on hand is prepared to take the City if necessary. The Kearsarge and Ossipee are here. The British cruiser Forward has come in under a full head of steam. She left Jamaica on a six hours' notice, and in her eagerness for the run jumped her anchor from the bottom. The Spanish cruisers Comba and Sanchez have both arrived. They report a French man-of-war on the way. The Kearsarge and Ossipee are in good shelling positions. All the guns are ready for firing. The combined forces of the foreign warships are prepared to effect a lading at a moment's notice. A system of signals has been established with the American Consulate, and the moment the danger flag is exhibited picked infantry companies from the Kearsarge and Ossipee will jump for the boats. The Captain of the British cruiser declares that if one Englishman is touched he will open every gun in his batteries. The American ships will not be second in this. Everybody aboard the Kearsarge and Ossipee are ready for the assault. The moment Hippolyte comes over the breastworks he will find a row of bayonets and cutlasses encircling the American residents. Hippolyte's nearest position is within almost a mile of the City. It is rumored that his force numbers 10,000 men. It is now a question of but a few days before the end is at hand. Port au Prince knows it, and men, women and children are prepared to die with Legitime. The feeling against the foreigners is one of bitter hatred, and it needs but a spark to turn the whole native population into a frenzied mob. Commanders Sheppard and Kellogg are on the watch at every point. Admiral Gherardi considers himself able to protect every American resident. It is out of the question to take any one aboard, and, with the Kearsarge and Ossipee at hand, their present position is almost as safe as if on the deck of the war vessel. The signal men keep their glasses trained every moment of the time on the station established ashore, and there will be ample time to open a flanking fire before any advancing crowd can reach the American Consulate. So serious has been the aspect of affairs that none of the ships have dared to leave for St. Nichols Mole to place themselves in communication with their Governments. The heat is terrible. The thermometer registers 98° in the face of a moderate breeze. A high humidity percentage prevails and if it continues long it will play havoc among the crews that may be sent on shore. The docks are piled high with household goods and the effects of the populace. The people have all endeavored to get as near the water as possible. The great mass can get no further, as the few available shore boats are in constant requisition. Even if the means of transportation to the opposite shore were better, many are in such straitened circumstances that they could offer no compensation.

The Paris Temps says that cipher telegrams have been discovered proving that General Boulanger was at the head of a plot to march upon the Elysee Palace, and that several officers of high rank had promised him their support. The charges of embezzlement against Boulanger relate to the purchase of camp bedsteads and other supplies for the troops and to malversation of the funds of the War Ministry. The General is also accused of using the funds of the War Ministry to buy shares in the Military Club, and of keeping the shares thus bought in his own possession. A copy of the indictment found against General Boulanger was formally delivered at his residence in Paris yesterday. It summons General Boulanger, M. Rochefort and Count Dillon to appear within 10 days. If they do not appear within 20 days, they will be declared outlaws, and their property will be confiscated until the surrender. It is said that the trial has been fixed for August 10. The judgment will be final, no appeal being allowed. The accused are charged with instigating the issue of manifestoes against the Government in July, 1887, at Lyons and Paris, and in December, 1887, at Paris.

The Democratic Convention of Mississippi has nominated ex-Governor Stone for Governor. The platform adopts the principles of the last National platform; deprecates monopolies and trusts on one hand and communism on the other; condemns the tariff maintained by the Republican party; repudiates all feeling of sectional prejudices, expresses joy over every indication of full and free sympathy between all parts of the Union, and hails with delight a better knowledge each of the other, and the dawn of a hearty feeling of brotherhood where hatred finds no exponent in party measures; favors immigration, encouragement to all industries, and especially to new investment of capital in manufactures; approves of the "vigorous acts of Governor Lowry in his attempts to prevent the violation of our laws in the late brutal prize-fight."

Warrants were obtained from Justice Prindiville, of Chicago, yesterday, for the arrest of Attorney Stephen A. Douglas, Jr., C. D. Hooker and R. D. Davidson, a detective. They charge the parties with being involved in a questionable real estate transaction by means of which $3,000 was obtained from William Rance. In the absence of Mr. Douglas, a friend of his who is cognizant of the transaction says that it was perfectly regular and legitimate.

The license bill introduced in the Rhode Island Legislature provides that wholesale license fees shall be from $500 to $1,000, determined by the License Commissioners, and retail fees $400 in Providence, running down to $250 in the towns, according to population. No sub-classes of licenses are provided for in the bill, and everybody who wants to handle liquor of any kind must pay either the wholesalers' or retailers' fee. The bill has passed the House.

General W. T. Sherman, who arrived at Leavenworth, Kans., late Tuesday night, from Fort Riley, was met by General McCook and staff at the station. The party were at once driven to the Fort. General Sherman reviewed the troops of the garrison Wednesday afternoon and left at night for New-York.

STORY ABOUT THE BOWERY.

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF THAT GREAT THOROUGHFARE DEPICTED.

A Bartender Tells How Wilk, the "Chap That Used to Clean Spittoons and Sweep The Floor Got Religion And Sung Gospel Hymns"—A Touch of Pathos.

[Reprinted.]

The rail around the bar shone in the gaslight like polished silver. The rosewood bar itself, with its heavy mouldings and its exquisite mechanical finish, would have been regarded by a Prohibitionist as a lamentable instance of art work misplaced. The gleaming mirror, fit for a King's palace, reflected the shining back of the bartender's head, which had been newly barbered, and the faces of two men standing before the bar. One of these faces was seamed with purple rivulets, and in the eyes there was a wolfish glare as they looked upon the tempting array of bottles bearing such suggestive golden mottoes as "Old Rye," "Old Crow," "Kentucky Sour Mash," and others equally alluring. The bartender wore a white apron and an immaculate shirt front, upon which glistened a diamond as large as a baby's little finger nail. His black mustache was waxed to a painfully acute stiffness. He looked rosy, fresh and smiling until his eye took in the forlorn figure at the bar. Then his face assumed a hard, cynical look as he said:

"Say, Jack, ain't it about your bedtime?"

Jack tried to smile, for the cuckoo had just come out of the expensive clock on the shelf and announced the fact that it was only 9 o'clock. Besides, Jack's bedtime had no fixed status in the order of time. Jack meant that smile to be cheerful and propitiary. He meant it to be understood as evoked by the wit of the bartender. But somehow it didn't convey such a meaning to the bartender, for he continued:

"It's no use, Jack; you won't get a mouthful o' gin or brandy or beer here to-night. That's the kind of a huckleberry I am, an' that's the kind of a raspberry you are. See!"

"Billy, ole chap, jist a mouthful for the sake of old times! Hey, what d'ye say? You know an' the boss knows that hundreds o' dollars o' my rocks has slid into that till. Come, Billy, jist a little taste. Only a spoonful. The fires of hell is burnin' me up."

There were tears in his voice, but the bartender was obdurate. Then Jack raised his clenched hand toward the ceiling and said:

"May the curse—"

He was interrupted by the appearance of another man from the end of the room which was in shadow. The man caught Jack's hand in a powerful grip, and led him outside the door. Turning to a stranger, who had been an interested spectator of the scene, the barkeeper said:

"Stranger, I suppose you got onto that feller what took Jack out. Well, he's the whitest man there is this side o' Greenwood Cemetery, and don't you forget it. Do you know what he's a doin' now? He's a takin' Jack 'round to the Y. M. C. A. to get some coffee. Who is he? Why, he's Wilk, what cleans out the spittoons and sweeps up the floor. He polished the rail you're leanin' on, he did. Kin ye find any fly specks on that mirror? Well, I guess not. Oh, he's a Jim Dandy, he is. There ain't no moss on Wilk, stranger. But I'm afraid I'm goin' to lose him. Fact is, stranger, he's in love an' he's got religion. Kind o' funny to have two diseases like them to once, ain't it? Well, Wilk's got 'em both, an' they've struck inside. Let's see, did he get religion or love first? I kind o' think he got the love first. Yes, I remember now. He's been lovesick about two weeks, an' it's just about ten days since that shoutin' Methodist Harrison got onto him an' hauled him to the altar down there in John-street, where he's sockin' it to Jay Gool an' them other rich fellers. You see, Wilk was goin' down for me to git a bottle o' bitters an' he went by the door o' the John-Street Church where they've got signs hung out to come in an' have a rest from sin an' all that. Music was a-comin' out o' the door an' Wilk, like a darn fool, 'stead o' comin' home with my bitters, goes in an' sets in the last seat near the door. Mind ye, Wilk didn't tell me anything about this, but one o' my friends seen Wilk, an' he told me all about it. Well, Wilk set there awhile, an' pretty soon that jumpin' jack revival feller jumps up an' asks if anybody wants to take a new grip an' shake theirselves along the narrer way, an' dod blast my coppers if Wilk didn't git right up on his pins an' say he wanted to take a hand in the game."

"Yes, sir; Wilk got right up an' says that's the kind of a clothespin he was. He 'lowed he'd been kickin' up the dust on the road what leads to hell an' damnation long enough, an' now he was ready to go huskin' corn in the Lord's cornfield. Did they take him in? Well, I should twitter. The sistern cried over him, an' the brethring slapped him on the back an' said: 'Go it, old chap; you'll get there when the general roll is called.' They wanted him to throw away the bottle of bitters he had for me, but he said it wouldn't be a square deal, an' he wouldn't do it. An' they landed a mighty fine fish when they struck Wilk, for he can sing like a nightingale. Ha! ha! ha! Makes me laugh when I think of it. Ye see, the other night there was a party o' bucks in here, an' they knowed Jack was a corkin' singer, 'cause they'd heard him before.

"They jerked him out in front o' the bar, just where you're standin', and said he'd got to sing. 'Well, gentlemen,' said he, 'I'll sing, but maybe you won't like the song.' It didn't make a — bit of difference to them, they said, only he must sing. He took a little book out o' his pocket, kind o' hawked to clear his throat, and began to sing. What d'ye spose he sung, stranger? 'Twas a little gospel song. So thunderin' pooty it was that I learned the first verse myself.

> I will sing of a beautiful city,
> Far away in the mansions of light;
> I will tell how its walls are of jasper,
> How its streets are all golden and bright,

"Etcetery, Yankee Doodle and Christopher Columbus; that's all I can remember. But them chaps didn't want any more songs, an' they got kind o' quiet like after that an' went out."

The stranger remarked in a casual and disinterested manner something to the effect that he thought he had heard the bartender speak about love in connection with Wilk.

"You're right, stranger," said the loquacious dispenser of liquids. "I did say Wilk was stuck on a girl, an, that's just what galls me, for I'm kind o' gone on the same fairy myself. She lives up the street with an old English widder what likes her glass o' beer afore she turns in at night. Just about the time every night that the cucco comes out o' the clock an' sings ten times, Mag—that's the short of her name for Margaret—comes 'round to the family entrance with a can in a basket. Lord love you, sir, she wouldn't carry the can in her fist; not she. Mag gets one pint; no more, no less. You'd ought to see her, stranger. She's a little mite, not much bigger'n a pint of cider; but they do say as how the best goods come done up in the smallest parcels. Her eyes is brown, sir; just the color o' beer when you looks at it under the white collar o' foam. I'll bet this here di'mon' pin what I paid $20 to a Jew for on the instalment racket, and what I'm only owin' $2 on, that you'd fall in love with her yourself if you seen her once. An' her hair! I'll be ham-strung if I don't believe it would reach to her feet if she once took the pins out! An' when she grins! 'Scuse me, I ought to said smiles, 'cause such kind as Mag don't grin. An' when she smiles, as I said—say, stranger, you've seen rainbows, hain't you? Well that's what her smile is, a rainbow smile, a kind of a promise of sunshine after rain. You know there's smiles an' smiles. Some gals yawp when they grins as if their heads would drop off when their mouth opens, but Mag ain't none o' that kind. Her cheeks just widen a little an' dimples comes in 'em like your mother used to make in a green loaf o' bread with her little finger before she put it in the oven. An' them cheeks o' hers! Why, they're just the color o' Jersey peaches. To tell the truth, stranger, I'm dead stuck on her myself. Now, I asks you, if it's a fair question, what right Wilk, who's only a supe round here, has got to git mashed on a girl like that?

"Look here, he ain't got nothin', ain't Wilk! Then look at me. Now, I'm a darn sight better lookin' than Wilk, ain't I, stranger? I'll leave it to you, honest! You seen him an' you seen me. If I ain't got more style in my little finger than Wilk's got in his whole body, I'll eat my shirt, buttons and all."

The long finger of the clock had been slowly swinging around the circle, and it was near the time for the cuckoo to come out and sing 10. The jangle of horse cars came in at the latticed door. An ambulance went by ringing its alarm. There was a quick step on the sidewalk, the door flew open, and in came Wilk reeking with perspiration. The bartender grinned and whispered, while his hand described a circle over the left side of his mouth.

"It's about time for the fairy to come. See him look at the clock! He thinks he's late."

Wilk took a seat near the family entrance. Taking a little book from his pocket he looked at the pages with an abstracted gaze, for his attention was really given up to listening.

"D'ye know what he's a readin' now? No! Why, that's the new part of the Bible, where it tells that story about hauling in so many fish that the net broke, an' that other little yarn about the man as was stoned to death. But Wilk's always readin' about the 'Postle Paul what went down to Jericho or some other old fashioned place. He wrote a lot, did Paul, about how to keep sober and go to church three times on Sunday. He was a great chap for writin' letters to the Hebrews an' the Irish an' Dutch. In one o' them letters to some o' them furriners he kind o' got down on his marrer bones himself, for he said it was mighty hard work thinkin' to be good with his head an' doin' bad with his hands. That's the letter Wilk's always readin.' Hush! Look at him now!"

The bartender held up his hand in a warning gesture. Wilk had put the book in his pocket and was leaning over. His eyes shone and his lips were parted. The two men listened, too. There was a lull in the noises in the street, and the two men, by straining their sense of hearing, became aware that the door of the family entrance had opened. The cuckoo came out of the clock and made its usual hourly announcement. Wilk's face was flushed, and he stepped quickly to the little compartment, which now contained the object of his heart's desire. A low ripple of laughter floated into the barroom.

"Hear that?" said the bartender "He's giving her some of his honey guff!"

Then followed an interval of whispering and the door leading into the barroom opened and Wilk came out. He carried in his hand a neat little basket. This he set carefully upon the floor, lifted the cover and removed a shining one-quart tin pail. Walking to the brazen spigot projecting from the beer keg in the ice-box, he drew the pail full of a brown liquid capped with foam. Then he returned the pail to the basket and closed the lid. After the door had closed behind him there was more whispering, but the only words which the two men could distinguish were, "Oh, ain't you awful!" in a woman's voice. The outer door closed and the bartender said:

"He's gone home with her."

Ten minutes elapsed during which time the bartender seemed moody and busied himself rearranging the already orderly bottles. Then Wilk returned. He walked straight to the bar. The passion and yearning and ardor of a soul aflame was about him. It shone in his eyes. It glorified the face marked with lines of dissipation. Holding his hand across the rosewood counter which he had polished so often Wilk said:

"Good-by, Jim, old man; I'm goin' to leave you. The Young Men's Christian Association folks has got a job for me down on West-street, watchin' nights, an' I'm goin' to get $12 a week. I've got a hundred o' them green slips o' paper with Uncle Sam's name on 'em in the bank, an'——"

"Glad to hear it, old chap. Hope you'll come to see me once in a while."

Wilk flushed and ran his eye over the familiar bottles. Then he stammered out:

"J-J-Jim, I won't be able t-t-to come very often."

"Why not? You'll have all your days to yourself."

Wilk looked at his old confrere with something of pity in his glance.

"Well, the fact is—the facts, Jim, is—that that—Mag and me is goin' to git hitched next Sunday, an' I'll have to stay with her most of the time when I ain't workin'."

The bartender bent his head and busied himself under the bar. When he raised his head his face was pale, and he winked his eyes suspiciously. This he explained by saying there was a Bermuda onion behind the bar. Just as the cuckoo came out with a soft cooing to the effect that another 60 minutes had gone by, three men touched glasses in a parting drink, and Wilk took ginger ale. —New-York Sun.

An Alleged Plot in France—What Democrats Of Mississippi Have Done—Rhode Island's License Bill—The Scotch Local Government Bill—The "Irish Problem," Etc.

A correspondent writing to the New York Times from Port au Prince, Hayti, under date of July 7, says: Port au Prince within the last few days has been in a state bordering on frenzy. Hippolyte has assaulted the extreme outworks. He is being held in check at the present writing. Legitime is impressing into the ranks every man capable of carrying a rifle. The people have been delirious with excitement. The Minister of War has executed some of the prisoners with his own hands. Hippolyte is burning farm houses and villages in the very sight of the City. All foreigners have been threatened with extermination, but the United States naval force on hand is prepared to take the City if necessary. The Kearsarge and Ossipee are here. The British cruiser Forward has come in under a full head of steam. She left Jamaica on a six hours' notice, and in her eagerness for the run jumped her anchor from the bottom. The Spanish cruisers Comba and Sanchez have both arrived. They report a French man-of-war on the way. The Kearsarge and Ossipee are in good shelling positions. All the guns are ready for firing. The combined forces of the foreign warships are prepared to effect a lading at a moment's notice. A system of signals has been established with the American Consulate, and the moment the danger flag is exhibited picked infantry companies from the Kearsarge and Ossipee will jump for the boats. The Captain of the British cruiser declares that if one Englishman is touched he will open every gun in his batteries. The American ships will not be second in this. Everybody aboard the Kearsarge and Ossipee are ready for the assault. The moment Hippolyte comes over the breastworks he will find a row of bayonets and cutlasses encircling the American residents. Hippolyte's nearest position is within almost a mile of the City. It is rumored that his force numbers 10,000 men. It is now a question of but a few days before the end is at hand. Port au Prince knows it, and men, women and children are prepared to die with Legitime. The feeling against the foreigners is one of bitter hatred, and it needs but a spark to turn the whole native population into a frenzied mob. Commanders Sheppard and Kellogg are on the watch at every point. Admiral Gherardi considers himself able to protect every American resident. It is out of the question to take any one aboard, and, with the Kearsarge and Ossipee at hand, their present position is almost as safe as if on the deck of the war vessel. The signal men keep their glasses trained every moment of the time on the station established ashore, and there will be ample time to open a flanking fire before any advancing crowd can reach the American Consulate. So serious has been the aspect of affairs that none of the ships have dared to leave for St. Nichols Mole to place themselves in communication with their Governments. The heat is terrible. The thermometer registers 98° in the face of a moderate breeze. A high humidity percentage prevails and if it continues long it will play havoc among the crews that may be sent on shore. The docks are piled high with household goods and the effects of the populace. The people have all endeavored to get as near the water as possible. The great mass can get no further, as the few available shore boats are in constant requisition. Even if the means of transportation to the opposite shore were better, many are in such straitened circumstances that they could offer no compensation.

The Paris Temps says that cipher telegrams have been discovered proving that General Boulanger was at the head of a plot to march upon the Elysee Palace, and that several officers of high rank had promised him their support. The charges of embezzlement against Boulanger relate to the purchase of camp bedsteads and other supplies for the troops and to malversation of the funds of the War Ministry. The General is also accused of using the funds of the War Ministry to buy shares in the Military Club, and of keeping the shares thus bought in his own possession. A copy of the indictment found against General Boulanger was formally delivered at his residence in Paris yesterday. It summons General Boulanger, M. Rochefort and Count Dillon to appear within 10 days. If they do not appear within 20 days, they will be declared outlaws, and their property will be confiscated until the surrender. It is said that the trial has been fixed for August 10. The judgment will be final, no appeal being allowed. The accused are charged with instigating the issue of manifestoes against the Government in July, 1887, at Lyons and Paris, and in December, 1887, at Paris.

The Democratic Convention of Mississippi has nominated ex-Governor Stone for Governor. The platform adopts the principles of the last National platform; deprecates monopolies and trusts on one hand and communism on the other; condemns the tariff maintained by the Republican party; repudiates all feeling of sectional prejudices, expresses joy over every indication of full and free sympathy between all parts of the Union, and hails with delight a better knowledge each of the other, and the dawn of a hearty feeling of brotherhood where hatred finds no exponent in party measures; favors immigration, encouragement to all industries, and especially to new investment of capital in manufactures; approves of the "vigorous acts of Governor Lowry in his attempts to prevent the violation of our laws in the late brutal prize-fight."

Warrants were obtained from Justice Prindiville, of Chicago, yesterday, for the arrest of Attorney Stephen A. Douglas, Jr., C. D. Hooker and R. D. Davidson, a detective. They charge the parties with being involved in a questionable real estate transaction by means of which $3,000 was obtained from William Rance. In the absence of Mr. Douglas, a friend of his who is cognizant of the transaction says that it was perfectly regular and legitimate.

No sub-classes of licenses are provided for in the bill, and everybody who wants to handle liquor of any kind must pay either the wholesalers' or retailers' fee. The bill has passed the House.

General W. T. Sherman, who arrived at Leavenworth, Kans., late Tuesday night, from Fort Riley, was met by General McCook and staff at the station. The party were at once driven to the Fort. General Sherman reviewed the troops of the garrison Wednesday afternoon and left at night for New-York.

Passed July 5, 1889.

The Common Council of the City of Kingston do ordain as follows:

Resolved, That the roadway of Holmes-street from Union avenue to Hone street, in said city, shall be paved with blue stone blocks from curb to curb, according to plans and specifications to be prepared by the City Engineer and approved by the Common Council.

Resolved, That the work embraced in the foregoing resolution shall be done under the direction of the Committee on Streets, the City Engineer and the Superintendent of Streets, and that twenty-five per cent. of the cost thereof shall be paid by a general tax upon the City, and that the remaining seventy-five per cent. of the cost thereof shall be paid by a special assessment upon such portions of the real estate in said City bordering on or touching said Holmes-street as the Assessors of said City shall deem more immediately benefited by such improvement.

I hereby approve the foregoing ordinance.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand this 9th day of July, 1889.

JOHN NEWKIRK, Mayor.

AUGUSTUS SCHEPMOES, City Clerk.

CITY TREASURER'S NOTICE—NOTICE IS hereby given that I have received for collection the following warrant to-wit:

Down-Town Singers Going to Troy—A Dangerous Plank Walk--Concerning the Filling In of a Swamp—Wide Tires on Wagons And Better Streets Here—Signs of the Times.

The members of the Rondout Quartette Club have engaged Professor Albert Steinfeld, of College Point, L. I., as their Director. On Monday morning the members of the Club will march from their headquarters on Union-avenue to the West Shore Railroad station. A train will be boarded for Troy, where a Saengerfest will be held for three days. The first day will be devoted to the reception of visiting societies from many cities and towns along the Hudson River and inland. On the second day the forenoon will be spent visiting various points of interest about the City. In the afternoon the societies will meet in a large hall and rehearse for a concert to be held in the evening. There will be a prize-singing contest, in which the Quartette Club has been entered. The selection to be sung by the Club is "Leb' Wohl, mein Vaterland." On the forenoon of the third day a parade of all the visiting societies and their friends will take place. A picnic and summer night's festival, and a pyrotecnic display have been arranged for the afternoon and evening, when the prizes will be awarded and the "fest" ended. The Quartette Club will wear new light-colored hats and carry canes. A large number of citizens will accompany them. The Committee of Arrangements of the Troy Maennerchor is said to be composed of representative German citizens, who say the Saengerfest will eclipse any similar affair ever held along the Hudson River. They have been at work since early last spring perfecting arrangements. These "fests" are occasions of much merriment among Germans.

The following anecdote of the late Solomon Brown was told to-day. When he was proprietor of the Kingston Hotel he did not sell much liquor. When he did condescend to supply a customer with a drink, it was with the air of a man granting a favor. One day a wealthy man asked for a glass of whiskey. Brown put out a bottle, and then pushed a glass towards the customer. The man took the bottle and filling the glass to the brim, reached for a pitcher of water. Brown, with the look of a man who had been insulted, took the glass of whiskey, and to the astonishment of the would-be drinker, commenced to pour it through a funnel back into the bottle. "Say here," shouted the patron, whose face began to show signs of anger, "what in —— are you doing. I guess I can pay for all the whiskey I order." "My dear sir," said Brown, as he snapped his fingers, "we don't wholesale here."

Excursions have been arranged as follows: Hudson River, cigar factory employes, Saturday, July 20; excursion to Newburgh, Wurts-Street and Port-Ewen M. E. Sunday Schools, Monday, July 22; Rondout Social Maennerchor, Waldorf-on-Hudson, Wednesday, July 24; excursion to Iona Island, A. M. E. Zion Church, Tuesday, July 30; picnic, Hauck Gymnasium Club, O'Reilly's Grove, August 1; Weiner Hose Company, excursion, August 8; Rescue Hook and Ladder Company, picnic, Barmann's Elysium, August 15; on July 24 the congregation of the Poughkeepsie Lutheran Church will make an excursion to Iona Island. Members of the Spring-Street Lutheran Church will accompany them.

The Saugerties Post says:

Present indications all point to the fact that some day Saugerties people will have Kingston's filth at their very doors.

This outburst is the outcome of the fact that sewerage is proposed for the First Ward of this City. Condolences with Saugerties are in order.

The protest of North-Front-street residents against dumping garbage in the swamp below that street, has put a stop to the "swamp improvement." There is no other way to fill the swamp except at an expense the City officials do not deem it wise to incur. It was the intention when garbage was thrown there each week to immediately cover it with earth.

The plank walk on Fair-street, leading to the Ulster & Delaware Railroad station, is in a dilapidated state, and should be attended to. The walk is liable to go down at any time and in that event would precipitate pedestrians 30 feet into the marsh below.

At about 9 o'clock last night the smoldering ruins of the barn destroyed by fire in O'Reilly's woods opposite City Hall again began burning. Members of Weiner Hose Company extinguished the flames.

The funeral of James A. Brink, held yesterday afternoon at his late residence on Wall-street, was largely attended. The Rev. Dr. J. G. Van Slyke officiated. The interment was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

A horse, owned by Ernest Steuding, was so severely injured by being kicked by another horse that it died to-day on the Kingston Driving Park, where it had been turned out to grass.

"That steam roller of ours" is again in a state of innocuous desuetude in front of the City Hall and a condition and not a theory is thus presented to the citizens of Kingston City.

A sunset gun awoke the echoes along Rondout Creek last evening. It was on board the yacht Comet, of Brooklyn, anchored at Sleightburgh.

Peddlers complain that Dutchess County farmers are permitted to come here and sell products without licenses. True, but the farmers spend money at the stores.

When the work of excavating for the Ravine-street sewer is begun people dwelling near by will wish the work had been done by a previous generation.

Daisies on the hillsides here despite the constant rains are beginning to lose their freshness. Their appearance betokens the advancing season.

This City will have better streets. When? Never, unless something is done in the matter of wide tires for wagons drawing heavy loads.

Two venders who live here say they sold nearly 7,000 pond lilies during the firemen's tournament in Catskill.

A big calf downed two men on Wall street and made the air resound with its bellowings this morning.

There are people in this City that have only viewed the Catskills from a distance, like Moses of old.

Dealers say that the trade in ice cream for the large portion of the present week has not been large.

Potato bugs in the suburbs have rather "lost their grip," and large crops are expected.

This is the time of the year when a hot stove and a hot dinner do not harmonize.

Hollyhocks are now at their best. The double ones are especially handsome.

Green peas have "had their day" and even bean pods are getting "tough."

There were just enough clouds in the west last night to make a pretty sunset.

The green corn sold here to-day shows a "gauntness" that is not pleasing.

One of the many vicious curs on The Strand bit a boy yesterday.

There will be no meeting of the Common Council this evening.

Waving fields of green corn are a beautiful sight to see.

"Mixed weather" promised for Saturday.

Country roads are getting dusty.

DECIDED IN FAVOR OF THE PLAINTIFF.

The Case of G. C. Preston, as Receiver, Against Robert Loughran.

Recently it was stated in these columns that the case of George C. Preston as Receiver of the Ulster County Agricultural Society vs. Robert Loughran had been decided for the plaintiff "with conditions and qualifications, as per written opinion." Herewith are given the facts and such "conditions and qualifications."

The facts of the case are these: The defendant, Loughran, purchased the property, of the Ulster County Agricultural Society, consisting of the Kingston Driving Park, with buildings on the same, under a mortgage foreclosure. The plaintiff was appointed Receiver before the sale of the property, and brings his action to recover possession. One of the main points at issue is the validity of the mortgage under which the property was sold. The mortgage was executed by the President, Secretary and Treasurer of the Agricultural Society by virtue of a resolution of the Board of Directors of that Society in 1874. The plaintiff in this suit claims that the mortgage is void because an order of the Court had not been obtained giving authority to the Society to execute the mortgage.

The case was tried before Judge Mayham. He has written an opinion which covers 21 type-written pages. At the close he sums it up as follows:

"I must therefore hold and decide in the case:

First—That the mortgage in this case was not "ultra vires," but the corporation had power and authority to execute the same and that the same was a valid security.

Second That the judgment of foreclosure and sale is valid and cannot be attacked in this action.

Third—That the defendant at the time of the purchase of the premises under the foreclosure sale was so for the agent and officer of the corporation and bore such a fiduciary relation to it that he could not as to the corporation acquire a valid title in himself so as to divest the corporation of the right to assume the possession of the property.

Fourth—That at the time of the sale the property had vested in the Receiver and was in the custody of the Court, and the purchase by the defendant was absolutely void as to the Receiver.

Fifth—That the plaintiff as Receiver is entitled to judgment for the possession of the premises in question with damages for the withholding of the possession thereof since July 1, 1888, at the rate of $300 per annum, together with the costs of this action, but without prejudice to the claim for the amount of the judgment for foreclosure and sale, to be adjusted by the Court through the Receiver.

The case has attracted a great deal of attention.

CONCERNING DROWNING ACCIDENTS.

Young Man Loses His Life at Alligerville—Verdict of a Coroner's Jury.

Elmer Kiff, a son of M. P. Kiff, was drowned in the Rondout Creek at Alligerville, while bathing alone on Sunday. His clothes were found near the bank. The body was not recovered until Wednesday. It was found near Rosendale, having gone over the High Falls.

The jury of inquest on the body of the man found in the Hudson River at East Kingston held its adjourned session last night and rendered a verdict of accidental drowning. A man named John Clancy said the body, to the best of his opinion, was that of John Donnelly, of Brooklyn, who worked on Robert Mains brickyard. Donnelly was last seen on Saturday, when he said he was going to Glasco.

Concerning Fire Companies Here.

Wiltwyck Hose Company will make a fine showing in the Middletown parade this fall. It is probable the members will not be compelled to walk as far as their prospective entertainers did in this City. The Middletown Hook and Ladder Company added much to the eclat of one of the finest firemen's processions ever seen in this City, and the citizens of Kingston are glad to know that the Wiltwycks intend to return the compliment. It is quite safe to say that the visiting company that excels Wiltwyck in the Middletown parade will be a fine body of firemen.

The parlor of Cornell Hose Company will soon be furnished entirely with prizes won in cities and villages in this State. When the repairs are completed to the Abeel-street engine-house the Company's rooms will present a handsome appearance.

Down-town firemen say they had no trouble in walking in Catskill. The streets are hilly but generally in good condition.

A Runaway Accident Here.

While Mrs. Adolph Eichler and one of her husband's employes were coming down Hasbrouck-avenue in a buck-board wagon last evening, the horse became frightened and started off on a run. One of the wheels of the wagon struck a telegraph pole. Mrs. Eichler and the man were thrown to the ground. The horse broke its harness and ran down the avenue to Mill-street. Mrs. Eichler was taken to a neighboring house and cared for, though she was not seriously injured. The driver sustained an injury to one of his legs. The shaft and one of the wheels of the wagon were broken.

July Fish Stories.

One of the "events" that excite dock fishermen here is the catching of an eel. It is easier to land them than it is to take the hook from their mouths. The latter is a slimy and most generally a surgical operation.

A striped bass weighing 70 pounds and measuring five feet in length was caught in the Hudson River recently near Peekskill.

The Hotel Kaaterskill has people from New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other Southern cities and also from the West. The arrangements there for all indoor and outdoor amusements are as complete as they are varied. The tennis grounds, bowling alley, billiard room, croquet and cricket grounds present attractions for both sexes. At the hops, which are given twice each week in the large hall of the hotel, fascinating costumes are worn by the ladies. The following are among the late arrivals: R. G. Gregg and wife, Miss C. H. Gregg, William Chester, Mrs. William Mertens, F. W. Wigand, R. L. Beutsell, Mrs. A. L. Gihon, F. R. C. Chambers, G. M. Fletcher, J. A. Carrington, Mrs. D. Sherwood, George A. Strong, E. N. Crosby, J. S. Carey and wife, New-York; Hon. Ira Davenport, Bath, N. Y.; W. B. More, London, England.

The "City of Kingston" last night had on board a large passenger list of New-York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia people en route to the Catskill Mountains. Among the passengers was a member of the Chinese Legation at Washington. He wore a blue satin blouse, white knee-breeches, leggings and a blue cap. He was accompanied by Count Mitkiemerz. They boarded the 7:40 train on the Ulster & Delaware Railroad and will spend probably a week at the Grand Hotel.

Travel over the Stony Clove & Catskill Mountain Railroad was heavy this afternoon.

OF INTEREST TO WHEELMEN HERE,

For the Paragraphs that Follow Refer to Local Bicyclers and Their Plans.

When up-town hoodlums see two men working the pedals of a tandem tricycle they shout to the rider in front: "Hurry up! 'Tother fellow is close after you!"

Beginners at 'cycling are taught "how to ride" on Albany-avenue. The down grade at "The Bridge" is an aid to the novice.

A tamdem tricycle was whirled around the track of the Kingston Driving Park one evening recently in two minutes.

Bicyclers find the lower Fair-street pavement a fine roadway on which to make their wheels hum.

Which has Caused Excitement to Prevail at Ulsterville this Afternoon.

"Hattie" Purdy, for several years a teacher in the schools of Middletown, attempted suicide this afternoon at Ulsterville, Ulster County, by cutting her throat with a razor. She will probably die. He was sent to the House of Refuge on Randall's Island.

More Rattlesnakes Killed.

Many large rattlesnakes have been encountered in Southern Ulster and Sullivan Counties recently, and the people engaged in picking huckleberries on the Shawangunk Mountains have had many narrow escapes from being bitten. Martin Clark, of Beaver Brook, Sullivan County, killed two rattlers in one day last week. One had 15 rattles and the other 11.

Why Engineers

Conductors, baggage masters, brakemen, and all who are constantly traveling upon railroads are more or less afflicted with kidney disease is from the fact that they are constantly being shaken by the jar of the fast-running trains. It begins by pain across the small of the back extending down the inside of the leg to the knees, frequent desire to urinate dark and high-colored urine, stiff back, hate to bend over, pain when lying down, pain when standing, pain when sitting, in fact, pain, pain all the time, and unless relief is obtained Bright's Disease is sure to follow. Nothing will liven up the kidneys, regulate the urine, limber the back like the use of Brown's Sarsaparilla. Read what Conductor Anderson, of the Maine Central Railroad says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla with marked effect." Road Master E. A. Smith, of the Boston & Maine system of railroads, says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla for kidney troubles and can truly say it has done more for me than all the doctors I ever employed, and I have had occasion to require the services of the best physicians in the State. My wife has also been benefited by the use of

Down-Town Singers Going to Troy—A Dangerous Plank Walk—Concerning the Filling In of a Swamp—Wide Tires on Wagons And Better Streets Here—Signs of the Times.

The members of the Rondout Quartette Club have engaged Professor Albert Steinfeld, of College Point, L. I., as their Director. On Monday morning the members of the Club will march from their headquarters on Union-avenue to the West Shore Railroad station. A train will be boarded for Troy, where a Saengerfest will be held for three days. The first day will be devoted to the reception of visiting societies from many cities and towns along the Hudson River and inland. On the second day the forenoon will be spent visiting various points of interest about the City. In the afternoon the societies will meet in a large hall and rehearse for a concert to be held in the evening. There will be a prize-singing contest, in which the Quartette Club has been entered. The selection to be sung by the Club is "Leb' Wohl, mein Vaterland." On the forenoon of the third day a parade of all the visiting societies and their friends will take place. A picnic and summer night's festival, and a pyrotecnic display have been arranged for the afternoon and evening, when the prizes will be awarded and the "fest" ended. The Quartette Club will wear new light-colored hats and carry canes. A large number of citizens will accompany them. The Committee of Arrangements of the Troy Maennerchor is said to be composed of representative German citizens, who say the Saengerfest will eclipse any similar affair ever held along the Hudson River. They have been at work since early last spring perfecting arrangements. These "fests" are occasions of much merriment among Germans.

The following anecdote of the late Solomon Brown was told to-day. When he was proprietor of the Kingston Hotel he did not sell much liquor. When he did condescend to supply a customer with a drink, it was with the air of a man granting a favor. One day a wealthy man asked for a glass of whiskey. Brown put out a bottle, and then pushed a glass towards the customer. The man took the bottle and filling the glass to the brim, reached for a pitcher of water. Brown, with the look of a man who had been insulted, took the glass of whiskey, and to the astonishment of the would-be drinker, commenced to pour it through a funnel back into the bottle. "Say here," shouted the patron, whose face began to show signs of anger, "what in —— are you doing. I guess I can pay for all the whiskey I order." "My dear sir," said Brown, as he snapped his fingers, "we don't wholesale here."

Excursions have been arranged as follows: Hudson River, cigar factory employes, Saturday, July 20; excursion to Newburgh, Wurts-Street and Port-Ewen M. E. Members of the Spring-Street Lutheran Church will accompany them.

The protest of North-Front-street residents against dumping garbage in the swamp below that street, has put a stop to the "swamp improvement." There is no other way to fill the swamp except at an expense the City officials do not deem it wise to incur. It was the intention when garbage was thrown there each week to immediately cover it with earth.

DECIDED IN FAVOR OF THE PLAINTIFF.

The Case of G. C. Preston, as Receiver, Against Robert Loughran.

Recently it was stated in these columns that the case of George C. Preston as Receiver of the Ulster County Agricultural Society vs. Robert Loughran had been decided for the plaintiff "with conditions and qualifications, as per written opinion." Herewith are given the facts and such "conditions and qualifications."

The facts of the case are these: The defendant, Loughran, purchased the property, of the Ulster County Agricultural Society, consisting of the Kingston Driving Park, with buildings on the same, under a mortgage foreclosure. The plaintiff was appointed Receiver before the sale of the property, and brings his action to recover possession. One of the main points at issue is the validity of the mortgage under which the property was sold. The mortgage was executed by the President, Secretary and Treasurer of the Agricultural Society by virtue of a resolution of the Board of Directors of that Society in 1874. The plaintiff in this suit claims that the mortgage is void because an order of the Court had not been obtained giving authority to the Society to execute the mortgage.

The case was tried before Judge Mayham. He has written an opinion which covers 21 type-written pages. At the close he sums it up as follows:

"I must therefore hold and decide in the case:

First—That the mortgage in this case was not "ultra vires," but the corporation had power and authority to execute the same and that the same was a valid security.

Second—That the judgment of foreclosure and sale is valid and cannot be attacked in this action.

Third—That the defendant at the time of the purchase of the premises under the foreclosure sale was so for the agent and officer of the corporation and bore such a fiduciary relation to it that he could not as to the corporation acquire a valid title in himself so as to divest the corporation of the right to assume the possession of the property.

Fourth—That at the time of the sale the property had vested in the Receiver and was in the custody of the Court, and the purchase by the defendant was absolutely void as to the Receiver.

Fifth—That the plaintiff as Receiver is entitled to judgment for the possession of the premises in question with damages for the withholding of the possession thereof since July 1, 1888, at the rate of $300 per annum, together with the costs of this action, but without prejudice to the claim for the amount of the judgment for foreclosure and sale, to be adjusted by the Court through the Receiver.

The case has attracted a great deal of attention.

CONCERNING DROWNING ACCIDENTS.

Young Man Loses His Life at Alligerville—Verdict of a Coroner's Jury.

Elmer Kiff, a son of M. P. Kiff, was drowned in the Rondout Creek at Alligerville, while bathing alone on Sunday. His clothes were found near the bank. The body was not recovered until Wednesday. It was found near Rosendale, having gone over the High Falls.

The jury of inquest on the body of the man found in the Hudson River at East Kingston held its adjourned session last night and rendered a verdict of accidental drowning. A man named John Clancy said the body, to the best of his opinion, was that of John Donnelly, of Brooklyn, who worked on Robert Mains brickyard. Donnelly was last seen on Saturday, when he said he was going to Glasco.

Concerning Fire Companies Here.

Wiltwyck Hose Company will make a fine showing in the Middletown parade this fall. It is probable the members will not be compelled to walk as far as their prospective entertainers did in this City. The Middletown Hook and Ladder Company added much to the eclat of one of the finest firemen's processions ever seen in this City, and the citizens of Kingston are glad to know that the Wiltwycks intend to return the compliment. It is quite safe to say that the visiting company that excels Wiltwyck in the Middletown parade will be a fine body of firemen.

The parlor of Cornell Hose Company will soon be furnished entirely with prizes won in cities and villages in this State. When the repairs are completed to the Abeel-street engine-house the Company's rooms will present a handsome appearance.

Down-town firemen say they had no trouble in walking in Catskill. The streets are hilly but generally in good condition.

A Runaway Accident Here.

While Mrs. Adolph Eichler and one of her husband's employes were coming down Hasbrouck-avenue in a buck-board wagon last evening, the horse became frightened and started off on a run. One of the wheels of the wagon struck a telegraph pole. Mrs. Eichler and the man were thrown to the ground. The horse broke its harness and ran down the avenue to Mill-street. Mrs. Eichler was taken to a neighboring house and cared for, though she was not seriously injured. The driver sustained an injury to one of his legs. The shaft and one of the wheels of the wagon were broken.

Why Engineers

Conductors, baggage masters, brakemen, and all who are constantly traveling upon railroads are more or less afflicted with kidney disease is from the fact that they are constantly being shaken by the jar of the fast-running trains. It begins by pain across the small of the back extending down the inside of the leg to the knees, frequent desire to urinate dark and high-colored urine, stiff back, hate to bend over, pain when lying down, pain when standing, pain when sitting, in fact, pain, pain all the time, and unless relief is obtained Bright's Disease is sure to follow. Nothing will liven up the kidneys, regulate the urine, limber the back like the use of Brown's Sarsaparilla. Read what Conductor Anderson, of the Maine Central Railroad says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla with marked effect." Road Master E. A. Smith, of the Boston & Maine system of railroads, says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla for kidney troubles and can truly say it has done more for me than all the doctors I ever employed, and I have had occasion to require the services of the best physicians in the State. My wife has also been benefited by the use of

Down-Town Singers Going to Troy—A Dangerous Plank Walk--Concerning the Filling In of a Swamp—Wide Tires on Wagons And Better Streets Here—Signs of the Times.

The members of the Rondout Quartette Club have engaged Professor Albert Steinfeld, of College Point, L. I., as their Director. On Monday morning the members of the Club will march from their headquarters on Union-avenue to the West Shore Railroad station. A train will be boarded for Troy, where a Saengerfest will be held for three days. The first day will be devoted to the reception of visiting societies from many cities and towns along the Hudson River and inland. On the second day the forenoon will be spent visiting various points of interest about the City. In the afternoon the societies will meet in a large hall and rehearse for a concert to be held in the evening. There will be a prize-singing contest, in which the Quartette Club has been entered. The selection to be sung by the Club is "Leb' Wohl, mein Vaterland." On the forenoon of the third day a parade of all the visiting societies and their friends will take place. A picnic and summer night's festival, and a pyrotecnic display have been arranged for the afternoon and evening, when the prizes will be awarded and the "fest" ended. The Quartette Club will wear new light-colored hats and carry canes. A large number of citizens will accompany them. The Committee of Arrangements of the Troy Maennerchor is said to be composed of representative German citizens, who say the Saengerfest will eclipse any similar affair ever held along the Hudson River. They have been at work since early last spring perfecting arrangements. These "fests" are occasions of much merriment among Germans.

The following anecdote of the late Solomon Brown was told to-day. When he was proprietor of the Kingston Hotel he did not sell much liquor. When he did condescend to supply a customer with a drink, it was with the air of a man granting a favor. One day a wealthy man asked for a glass of whiskey. Brown put out a bottle, and then pushed a glass towards the customer. The man took the bottle and filling the glass to the brim, reached for a pitcher of water. Brown, with the look of a man who had been insulted, took the glass of whiskey, and to the astonishment of the would-be drinker, commenced to pour it through a funnel back into the bottle. "Say here," shouted the patron, whose face began to show signs of anger, "what in —— are you doing. I guess I can pay for all the whiskey I order." "My dear sir," said Brown, as he snapped his fingers, "we don't wholesale here."

Excursions have been arranged as follows: Hudson River, cigar factory employes, Saturday, July 20; excursion to Newburgh, Wurts-Street and Port-Ewen M. E. Sunday Schools, Monday, July 22; Rondout Social Maennerchor, Waldorf-on-Hudson, Wednesday, July 24; excursion to Iona Island, A. M. E. Zion Church, Tuesday, July 30; picnic, Hauck Gymnasium Club, O'Reilly's Grove, August 1; Weiner Hose Company, excursion, August 8; Rescue Hook and Ladder Company, picnic, Barmann's Elysium, August 15; on July 24 the congregation of the Poughkeepsie Lutheran Church will make an excursion to Iona Island. Members of the Spring-Street Lutheran Church will accompany them.

The Saugerties Post says:

Present indications all point to the fact that some day Saugerties people will have Kingston's filth at their very doors.

This outburst is the outcome of the fact that sewerage is proposed for the First Ward of this City. Condolences with Saugerties are in order.

The protest of North-Front-street residents against dumping garbage in the swamp below that street, has put a stop to the "swamp improvement." There is no other way to fill the swamp except at an expense the City officials do not deem it wise to incur. It was the intention when garbage was thrown there each week to immediately cover it with earth.

The plank walk on Fair-street, leading to the Ulster & Delaware Railroad station, is in a dilapidated state, and should be attended to. The walk is liable to go down at any time and in that event would precipitate pedestrians 30 feet into the marsh below.

At about 9 o'clock last night the smoldering ruins of the barn destroyed by fire in O'Reilly's woods opposite City Hall again began burning. Members of Weiner Hose Company extinguished the flames.

The funeral of James A. Brink, held yesterday afternoon at his late residence on Wall-street, was largely attended. The Rev. Dr. J. G. Van Slyke officiated. The interment was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Daisies on the hillsides here despite the constant rains are beginning to lose their freshness. Their appearance betokens the advancing season.

This City will have better streets. When? Never, unless something is done in the matter of wide tires for wagons drawing heavy loads.

DECIDED IN FAVOR OF THE PLAINTIFF.

The Case of G. C. Preston, as Receiver, Against Robert Loughran.

Recently it was stated in these columns that the case of George C. Preston as Receiver of the Ulster County Agricultural Society vs. Robert Loughran had been decided for the plaintiff "with conditions and qualifications, as per written opinion." Herewith are given the facts and such "conditions and qualifications."

The facts of the case are these: The defendant, Loughran, purchased the property, of the Ulster County Agricultural Society, consisting of the Kingston Driving Park, with buildings on the same, under a mortgage foreclosure. The plaintiff was appointed Receiver before the sale of the property, and brings his action to recover possession. One of the main points at issue is the validity of the mortgage under which the property was sold. The mortgage was executed by the President, Secretary and Treasurer of the Agricultural Society by virtue of a resolution of the Board of Directors of that Society in 1874. The plaintiff in this suit claims that the mortgage is void because an order of the Court had not been obtained giving authority to the Society to execute the mortgage.

The case was tried before Judge Mayham. He has written an opinion which covers 21 type-written pages. At the close he sums it up as follows:

"I must therefore hold and decide in the case:

First—That the mortgage in this case was not "ultra vires," but the corporation had power and authority to execute the same and that the same was a valid security.

Second—That the judgment of foreclosure and sale is valid and cannot be attacked in this action.

Third—That the defendant at the time of the purchase of the premises under the foreclosure sale was so for the agent and officer of the corporation and bore such a fiduciary relation to it that he could not as to the corporation acquire a valid title in himself so as to divest the corporation of the right to assume the possession of the property.

Fourth—That at the time of the sale the property had vested in the Receiver and was in the custody of the Court, and the purchase by the defendant was absolutely void as to the Receiver.

Fifth—That the plaintiff as Receiver is entitled to judgment for the possession of the premises in question with damages for the withholding of the possession thereof since July 1, 1888, at the rate of $300 per annum, together with the costs of this action, but without prejudice to the claim for the amount of the judgment for foreclosure and sale, to be adjusted by the Court through the Receiver.

The case has attracted a great deal of attention.

CONCERNING DROWNING ACCIDENTS.

Young Man Loses His Life at Alligerville—Verdict of a Coroner's Jury.

Elmer Kiff, a son of M. P. Kiff, was drowned in the Rondout Creek at Alligerville, while bathing alone on Sunday. His clothes were found near the bank. The body was not recovered until Wednesday. It was found near Rosendale, having gone over the High Falls.

The jury of inquest on the body of the man found in the Hudson River at East Kingston held its adjourned session last night and rendered a verdict of accidental drowning. A man named John Clancy said the body, to the best of his opinion, was that of John Donnelly, of Brooklyn, who worked on Robert Mains brickyard. Donnelly was last seen on Saturday, when he said he was going to Glasco.

Concerning Fire Companies Here.

Wiltwyck Hose Company will make a fine showing in the Middletown parade this fall. It is probable the members will not be compelled to walk as far as their prospective entertainers did in this City. The Middletown Hook and Ladder Company added much to the eclat of one of the finest firemen's processions ever seen in this City, and the citizens of Kingston are glad to know that the Wiltwycks intend to return the compliment. It is quite safe to say that the visiting company that excels Wiltwyck in the Middletown parade will be a fine body of firemen.

The parlor of Cornell Hose Company will soon be furnished entirely with prizes won in cities and villages in this State. When the repairs are completed to the Abeel-street engine-house the Company's rooms will present a handsome appearance.

Down-town firemen say they had no trouble in walking in Catskill. The streets are hilly but generally in good condition.

A Runaway Accident Here.

While Mrs. Adolph Eichler and one of her husband's employes were coming down Hasbrouck-avenue in a buck-board wagon last evening, the horse became frightened and started off on a run. One of the wheels of the wagon struck a telegraph pole. Mrs. Eichler and the man were thrown to the ground. The horse broke its harness and ran down the avenue to Mill-street. Mrs. Eichler was taken to a neighboring house and cared for, though she was not seriously injured. The driver sustained an injury to one of his legs. The shaft and one of the wheels of the wagon were broken.

July Fish Stories.

One of the "events" that excite dock fishermen here is the catching of an eel. It is easier to land them than it is to take the hook from their mouths. The latter is a slimy and most generally a surgical operation.

Why Engineers

Conductors, baggage masters, brakemen, and all who are constantly traveling upon railroads are more or less afflicted with kidney disease is from the fact that they are constantly being shaken by the jar of the fast-running trains. It begins by pain across the small of the back extending down the inside of the leg to the knees, frequent desire to urinate dark and high-colored urine, stiff back, hate to bend over, pain when lying down, pain when standing, pain when sitting, in fact, pain, pain all the time, and unless relief is obtained Bright's Disease is sure to follow. Nothing will liven up the kidneys, regulate the urine, limber the back like the use of Brown's Sarsaparilla. Read what Conductor Anderson, of the Maine Central Railroad says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla with marked effect." Road Master E. A. Smith, of the Boston & Maine system of railroads, says: "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla for kidney troubles and can truly say it has done more for me than all the doctors I ever employed, and I have had occasion to require the services of the best physicians in the State. My wife has also been benefited by the use of

BROWN'S, Sarsaparilla.

This is why railroad men use Brown's Sarsaparilla. Not genuine unless made by Ara Warren & Co., Bangor, Me.
